Unusually Cold Fall May Be Climaxed by Coldest, Driest November in Record Books

When you turn down the thermostat Thanksgiving Day so the heat of the roasting oven can warm the dining-room, you can ask yourself this one -- "Are we on our way to the coldest November on record?"

"For sustained cold, I can't remember another autumn like it," shivers Science Associates' David Ludlum, holding his mittened hands to the blaze.

"It's been pretty darned cold," concedes David Dilley, meteorologist in charge of the National Weather Bureau in Trenton.

November this week was already eight degrees below normal by Mr. Ludlum's Princeton calculations, 7.5 below by Mr. Dilley's. (It's always warmer in Trenton, for those who like to ponder sociological phenomena.)

However, Mr. Ludlum, peering through the snowflakes in his crystal ball, does see a warming trend before the end of November, so it's the toss of a snowflake whether we'll make a record or not.

On the dry side, however, there is no question -- so far, anyway. It's been the driest November ever, with .03 inches recorded in Trenton. The record for dryness is .62 in 1922. Remember 1972, when we had 12 inches of rain -- one foot! -- in November?

October -- now, there was a month.

It was 5.5 degrees below normal in Princeton, 4.8 in Trenton, the two weathermen say. The average temperature was 52.4 degrees in Trenton. This is not a record, however, and it doesn't put 1976 even in the top three of cold Octobers -- those three are 1925, with its average of 49.7; 1869 and 1876, in a virtual tie with 51.2 and 1917 with 51.6.

"But it WAS cold -- in fact, October was almost November," Mr. Dilley says with a happy shiver.

Mr. Ludlum points out that so far this fall, we've had 40 percent more "heating degree days" than normal. A Heating Degree Day is something you know all about if you sell fuel oil, because that's how oil dealers keep track of supply and demand. The number of Heating Degree Days for a given 24 hours are determined by the mean temperature for the day subtracted from 65 degrees.

When you add these days up, one after the other, you find that November is already 133 BELOW normal, and the heat from your roasting turkey isn't going to do much to bring it up.

People who keep track of these things remind us that earlier this month, the temperature range was around 28-40; a year ago, it was 56-71.

"Yes, we had a lovely Indian summer last November," says Mr. Ludlum, smilingly mistily, "but there has been NONE this year."

Battle Against Single Sewer Plant Intensifies
Committee Wants 3-Plant System Considered

The battle against a single-plant sewer system—"Plan A"—intensified this week as Township Committee voted unanimously to ask Federal and state officials to consider a three-plant system, and the Environmental Commissions of five municipalities asked all officials anywhere, to take a stand against a one-plant system.

The Township's action came at a Saturday morning meeting after Committee members examined the report of their consultant, Richard H. Schindelar. His conclusion: using overall totals, there isn't a great difference in cost between a one-plant and a three-plant system. That being the apparent case, Committee decided, land-use and environmental considerations should be the deciding factors.

"We unequivocally urge" the Federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Environmental Protection to review Mr. Schindelar's figures and those of William Starr, Township representative on the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority.

"Undertake a most careful evaluation, and then give fullest consideration to a three-plant system," Committee's resolution urged.

Who's Who. The five community groups that feel the same way are the two Princetons, Environmental Commissions, the Lawrence Township Conservation Advisory Committee and the Environmental Commissions of Hopewell Township and South Brunswick.

"Data underlying the figures on which the Authority has based its (Plan A) decision have not been made available, and the figures have not proven to be reliable," the Commissions charge. They add that "the Authority has failed to give consideration to the reasons for almost total public opposition to their position."

The Commissions sent their resolution to Russell Train, the Federal environmental commissioner, and to New Jersey's Congressional delegation, as well as to Governor Brendan T. Byrne; county and municipal officials and members of environmental groups.

Report Released. The actions were taken almost concurrently with release last week of the long-awaited report from Westwater, Gaston and Dunka, which recommended Plan A. Township Committee had been given only two copies of the volume containing the appendix with supporting data, and members were reluctant to make comments without having read that data.

But William Starr, the Township's Authority representative, and the lone and doughty fighter against Plan A on the Authority, had read the supporting facts.

"The data make it extremely difficult to have a clear-cut case for Plan A," he says.

Others close to the problem are less tactful and even accuse the firm of deliberately providing only 50 copies of the appendix, compared to 200 copies of the report itself.

"It was a darned dirty trick," was one comment.

Facts Questioned. Mr. Starr told Committee that charts in the Dunka report by Metcalf and Eddy—still another consulting firm—are either wrong, or "we have a $20 million new plant that maybe should have cost only $15 million."

Plan A would require $10 million more in Federal money, Mr. Starr says, and that doesn't even count operation and maintenance costs plus reduction, year by year, of the debt. Operation of three plants, however, is clearly more expensive, he says, but...

"We haven't given a fair shake to consideration of maintenance costs of the nine-mile interceptor Plan A would require."

"Princeton, as a community, has no idea what the interceptor line will do to Princeton Township," Mr. Starr believes.

He takes the line from where it enters the Township at the Stony Brook crossing of Province Line Road—"there's almost a gorge there". It crosses the brook and goes into a 90-foot deep tunnel dug out of rock under the Ettl Farm.

At Rosedale it turns, and parallels the road—on the Ettl side—to the Rosedale bridge, where it goes under the road and crosses Stony Brook into General Johnson's property.

Near Hun School. Angling from here up to Edgerstoune's circle, it goes behind the Hun Road houses to the playground of The Hun School, crosses the brook and goes between the old Worth Mill and the outer building of the historic Dinsmore house. From the bottom of Breuere's Hill, it goes past the White house and across Mercer Road and the woods to Quaker Road, 500 feet from the Meeting House, and then to the Institute for Advanced Study woods.

After going through the Woods, it goes between a swimming pool on Institute property, and West Drive, past the Lawrence Apartments and, Mr. Starr fears, "through" the Steadman house moved from its Alexander Street location a few years ago by the Historical Society.

The easement is 50 feet wide. Trees must be cut because their roots damage the sewer lines. The easement would resemble the Transcontinental pipeline, Mr. Starr says.

Municipal officials and environmental groups are also talking ruefully about the rumor, some months ago, that Princeton would have to pay $40,000 a month because the sewer plant would be done ahead of schedule, and would be idle until other towns could tie in. It now turns out that the sewer plant won't be completed ahead of schedule at all, and the $40,000 situation just isn't so.

Nobody seems to know who started the rumor.

Weather Report

Mr. Ludlum likes Indian summer – in fact, he likes ANY weather. In his "Almanac" column in the magazine Country Journal, he observes that Indian Summer weather in the United States reaches its peak around November 11, which is St. Martin's day in England.

Mr. Ludlum relates that according to legend, St. Martin of Tours gave his outer cloak to a cold and shivering beggar on November 10. The Lord observed this kind act, and caused the next day to be mild and sunny so the good bishop would have time to get a new coat.

The term "Indian Summer," Mr. Ludlum continues, didn't appear in written records in this country until 1778, but it is related to the pleasant season when the Indian corn is gathered in.

Warm Air Blocked. Why the cold?

A steady flow of Canadian air, Mr. Ludlum says, with fronts going by rapidly so that warm air can't come up from the south. Any storms that have formed have originated in Texas and gone out to sea across the Carolinas or Georgia. This, in turn, draws even more cold air down from Canada.

"We've had about seven weeks without a real break," he says, "and normally we have a six-to-eight week cycle in our weather."

And the future?

Well, the Old Farmer's Almanac is telling New Jersey residents there won't be much snow until the end of December, but from Groundhog Day -- February 2 -- until spring, it will be a long, hard, cold and snowy winter.

Trend to Continue. In fact, the future, as it peers out of the Almanac's pages, between the ads that say you, too, can build mighty muscles or print your own stationery, is bleak indeed. January straight through to the end of October, will have temperatures that are only average or below.

Mr. Dilley, who is interested in weather cycles, contributes the chilling thought that we've had five relatively mild winters and may be due for an end to that cycle, either this winter or next.

He points out, however, that even normal winter temperatures could be "the worst in five years," simply because winters have been so mild.

The whopper from the Old Farmer's Almanac is a prediction of eight to ten inches of snow for New Jersey on New Year's Eve.

Weatherman Ludlum, who has done extensive research into Colonial American almanacs (he's found that people used to think witches influenced the weather), isn't much impressed. Impossible to predict so far ahead -- the Almanac is put together about a year ahead of time – and there is simply no factual basis.

"The Old Farmer's Almanac," he concludes briskly, "is right approximately half the time. It is written more for amusement than illumination."

We'll ask him again on New Year's Day.

"I DON'T FEEL WELL"

Two Meals Produce Illness. It was described over a New York radio station as "a mystery disease that started in Princeton." "It's still a mystery, but it wasn't in Princeton and it doesn't seem to have the alarming implications of the newscast.

Fifty-two cases of gastro-intestinal illness developed in two groups of people who ate two different meals served Saturday, November 13, at the Princeton Elks Lodge on Route 518 in Montgomery Township.

"We've gotten back all our questionnaires, and they don't implicate any one specific food item," said Dr. William Halperin, state epidemiologist, on Monday. He said his department is now trying to find out whether anyone in the families of those stricken, people who did not eat the meals, have also become ill. No bacteria have been identified, he said.

Of the 52, 50 are members of the Hopewell Chapter of the Deborah Hospital Foundation and two are officers of the American Legion Ladies' Auxiliaries. Roast beef, salad dressing and cheese from the first meal were analyzed by the State Department of Health, and lasagna from the second meal.

Stricken members of the two groups suffered from one to two days with prolonged vomiting and diarrhea.

State officials who visited the Elks kitchen found no major health code violations, according to Jerry Kozak, of the inspecting unit. Technicians may examine kitchen employees who served both meals.

ROBBERY FAILS

At Tech Hifi. An attempted robbery at Tech HiFi, One Palmer Square, failed last week after the thieves were apparently frightened off.

Ptl. Bernard Lenhard, who responded at 1 Thursday morning to a call from the janitorial supervisor, found the lower section of the front door broken out. Several pieces of stereo equipment, wiring and album covers were on the sidewalk near the door.

Inside, the wiring to nine more stereo units had been disconnected. A cash box in the rear of the store was open but $72 was still there, police said.

A stereo speaker and a chair inside the store had been knocked over. "From the general appearance, the intruders were apparently scared away," commented Capt. Theodore Lewis. Nothing appears to have been taken.

Capt. Lewis added that the janitoral supervisior heard a loud crashing sound around 12:30 but she thought it was someone closing a trash receptacle. Det. Timothy Huizing aided in the investigation.

BACK PAY ORDERED

In Vieland Case. Constance Vieland, former head of the former Staff Services department of the Princeton schools, will receive about $7,000 in back pay from the school board as a result of a ruling by the state Commissioner of Education.

Fred Burke, the Commissioner, also upheld the decision of the state's hearing examiner, Lawrence Anderson, that the school board must re-establish Dr. Vieland's seniority rights. Dr. Vieland said this week that she assumes the pay will be retroactive to June 30, 1975, when the board denied her tenure in her job as director of Staff Services.

The denial of tenure was tantamount to firing her from that job. She has since been Middle School psychologist.

Dr. Vieland, in her appeal to the state, claimed that she already had tenure in "a category of responsibility," that is, as a supervisor. She holds state certification as a supervisor. She was hired in 1966 as a psychologist and given tenure in 1969.

Dietrich Meyerhofer, president of the board of education, said Monday that the board hasn't yet received the Commissioner's decision, and therefore hasn't talked about whether to appeal it. Any appeal would be made to the state Board of Education.

Dr. Vieland, who says her own successful appeal has cost several thousand in legal fees, hasn't decided whether to bring further action to compel the board to pay those fees.

"It was illegal to fire me, but it cost me money to prove this," she says. "In effect, I'm being held responsible.

The reasons for Dr. Vieland's dismissal have never been given, and she said this week that lawyers have told her not to reveal them because the case may still be appealed.

"But the reasons did not deal with my competence," she says. "If the board accepts that I have tenure, perhaps it might now deal with the competence issue. I have written evaluations of my work over the years and I've never been given any reason to believe my work was ever less than satisfactory."

If the board does not appeal and the Commissioner's ruling that Dr. Vieland be re-established in seniority stands, then others in supervisory positions on the school staff might have to be moved to make room for her. For example, if the Mercer County Superintendent of Schools decides that the new T. & E. jobs calls for a supervisor's certificate, Dr. Vieland could "bump" Norma Gumbiner, recently hired for that job. She might also have seniority over Ralph Heyman, assistant to the superintendent.

Dr. Vieland could not be restored to the job from which she was dismissed, because the Staff Services position has been eliminated.

THEFT REPORT

More CBs Stolen. Borough police reported the theft last week of three more citizen band radios from parked cars.

A Township resident lost a CB transceiver valued at $285 from his unlocked car parked Sunday morning between 10:45 and 11:45 on Chambers Street, while a Cranbury resident had a $109 CB unit taken from a console of his car parked Saturday between 4 and 5:30 p.m. in the Tulane-Witherspoon lot. His car was locked, police said.

A car parked in the victim's driveway on Edwards Place yeilded a CB radio transceiver valued at $119 to a thief who pried open a window. The larceny took place on Thursday.

A John Street resident told police last week that an 8-track tape and radio combination valued at $104 had been stolen from her car while it was parked between 8 and 10 p.m. in front of her house. Police said that a vent window had been pried open.

A Princeton Seminary student left the door to his room open while he went to dinner on Thursday. When he returned a little over an hour later, his OM-1 camera valued at $344.95, was missing.

There were two wallet thefts. A Township woman lost $40 from her wallet which was taken from her locker in the YM-YWCA building. Police said that her pocketbook and her wristwatch had been placed on top of the locker but only the money was stolen.

Remember - No Smoking!

That "no smoking" ordinance is now in effect in Borough Hall, so be warned. It applies to all public meetings. The Civil Rights Commission and the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority have meetings scheduled for this Tuesday, and the Planning Board will hold a work session next Monday. These are the first since passage of the ordinance November 9.

You can't smoke in the meeting room itself while a meeting is in session. You can, however, leave the room for a quick one elsewhere in the building.

If you serve on a board, you'll be expected to stay in your seat – squirming and itching to light up, maybe, but THERE -- until the meeting is over. Policies allowing for mid-way recesses are expected to be developed in short order.

Twenty-four dollars was stolen Thursday evening from a red leather wallet belonging to a Princeton University student. Police said that the intruder climbed a firescape to enter the second floor of one of the University-owned houses on Dickinson Street and removed a screen to enter the room. Time of the entry: between 9:15 and 10:45. In the Township, seven pieces of 20-foot copper tubing valued at $120 were stolen from the basement of a home under construction on the Great Road. The theft was reported by Gene Keller, manager of Keller Plumbing, 355 Ridgeview Road.

TELEVISION SET STOLEN

From Birch Avenue Home. A portable television set was stolen Thursday from a second-floor bedroom at the home of Romas Broadway, 12 Birch Avenue. The entry was discovered at 5 p.m. when Mrs. Broadway returned home.

Police said that the bedroom door had been pried open. The house was entered through either a front or rear door.

Intruder Flees. An intruder in the home of Bert Wohl, 68 Randall Road, fled when he was seen by Mrs. Wohl standing in the doorway of a playroom.

According to police, the Wohls were having dinner when they thought they heard their garage door open. They did not make a check. Later, when Mrs. Wohl saw the man standing inside the house, he fled through the garage. He was described as 30-35, dark complexioned with a moustache. He was wearing a drab green knit hat and dark jacket. Ptl. Jerry Offredo investigated.

Borough police list the theft of a $110 television set and $100 from a desk drawer in a first-floor bedroom in a Hawthorne Avenue apartment.

The entry took place Friday evening while the owner was away, police said. They added that it appeared that the front door to the home had been jimied.

LEAF-FIRES STARTED

On Hodge, Morven Place. Two leaf fires at the same time Friday evening, one near 144 Hodge Road and the other on Morven Place, were extinguished by a piece of fire apparatus requested by police.

A third leaf fire reported the previous evening at 5:14 on Hodge and Lilac required three pieces of fire equipment. Firemen returned at 5:35. "Someone is throwing matches in leaf piles," commented Capt. Theodore Lewis.

CAR IS STOLEN

By Two Juveniles. Two Princeton juveniles, ages 15 and 16, were apprehended by the Trenton police this weekend in Trenton in a car they had allegedly stolen from the rear of the Masonic Temple here on John and McLean Street.

The owner, a John Street resident, had parked his car at 7 and did not know it was stolen until two hours later, when he reveived a call from the Trenton police reporting they had recovered it.

STUDENT VISITOR HURT

In Campus Club Fall. A 19-year old Cortland (N.Y.) College student is in the intensive care unit of the Princeton Medical Center from treatment of a fractured skull and ruptured ear drum which he received when he apparently fell down a flight of stairs at the Campus Club, 5 Prospect Avenue.

Police said that Robert Leyden of Levittown, N.Y., was visiting his brother, a student at Princeton University. He was last seen, police continued, at 4:30 a.m., asleep on a couch on the main floor, following a party at the club. He was discovered Sunday afternoon at 4:30 on a couch in the club basement, covered with blood.

Capt. Theodore Lewis reported that there is no evidence of foul play. Dried blood was also found at the bottom of the stairs and police believe the victim fell down the stairs and crawled over to the couch. Ptl. William Hunter and Det. Ronald Holliday investigated.

CAR LEAVES ROADWAY

Strikes Two Trees. A car driven by Austin R. Erlich, 17, 41 Littlebrook Road, ran off Grover Avenue a few minutes before midnight Friday and sideswiped a tree.

It then veered across the roadway and struck another tree in front of 9 Grover Avenue. The driver was uninjured but a passenger, Frances Azzolina, 19, sustained a slight injury to her cheek. She refused medical treatment.

Ptl. Robert Nielsen, who noted that the car left 111 feet of skidmarks before leaving the road, charged Mr. Erlich with careless driving.

Pharmacy Footnotes
by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

Relieving symptoms of an allergy is only a stoppage measure, most experts agree. In fact, the continued treatment of an allergy by relieving the symptoms only is not always recommended by a physician. Often, the wisest course is to ask a physician's advice. He may recommend the immunization process. After a time with this process, a tolerance is developed which permits an ordinary exposure without an allergic reaction. Unfortunately, all allergies do not respond to immunization.

Swine Flu Shots Available Here Next Month

The New Jersey State Department of Health has released the schedule of mass immunization clinics to be held in Region IV, which includes Mercer and Somerset counties, from November 30 to December 12.

The clinics will be open to all citizens 18 years of age and above who wish to be immunized against "Swine Flu." In addition, elderly persons and those with chronic illnesses will receive a special "bivalent" vaccine to protect against both "Swine Flu" and A-Victoria Flu, the predominant strain of influenza last winter.

Children under 18 who do not suffer from chronic illness will not be given vaccine at this time. Those under 18 who do have chronic medical problems will be asked to provide documentation to that effect before a special vaccine is administered.

In Princeton, clinics will be held Tuesday, December 7, from 4-9 and Sunday, December 12, from 10 to 4 at Community Park School. In West Windsor clinics have been scheduled Wednesday, December 8, from 4-9 at the West Windsor-Plainsboro High School on Clarksville Road in Princeton Junction and on Sunday, December 12, from 10 to 4 at Mercer County Community College on Old Trenton Road, West Windsor.

Clinics for Lawrence Township residents will be held Saturday and Sunday, December 11 and 12, from 10 to 4 and 10 to 5, respectively, at Lawrence High School north campus, 2525 Princeton Pike in Lawrence Township. The clinic for Hopewell Township residents will be held Wednesday, December 8, between 4 and 9 in Hopewell Central High School on Titusville Road, Pennington.

In Somerset County, a clinic for Montgomery residents will be held Tuesday, December 7, from 3-9 at Montgomery High School on Orchard Road, Skillman. Franklin Township residents may go to a clinic in Franklin Township High School on Frances Street, Somerset, on Wednesday, December 8, from 3-9 or Saturday, December 11, from 10-5.

SHEEHAN IN VIOLATION?

So Engineer Says. Timothy Sheehan has been charged by George Olexa, Borough engineer, with expanding a building without a permit, demolishing without a permit and renovating without a permit. The charges apply to two buildings on a spur known as Peck Place, off Nassau between Harrison and Markham Road.

In two letters to Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Olexa says that the rear of one building has been completely removed without authorization. "Renovation," he says, doesn't mean demolition and reconstruction. He also charges that the new foundation, as poured, goes across property lines, and he says there are more footings and foundations than appear on the "as-built" survey presented to Mr. Olexa's office.

In the second building, he says, renovations now in progress on an existing second-floor apartment are being done without a building permit. Mr. Olexa also says that no plans have ever been presented showing expansion of the existing building onto foundations that have been built to the rear.

Timothy Sheehan, whose 146 Dundas Corporation owns the buildings, has brought suit often in recent months against the Borough Zoning Board and various applicants who have successfully asked for use variances.

MORE MONEY?

Schools May Ask It. Princeton's school board is scheduled to decide this Tuesday whether to ask the two governing bodies for more money.

Assuming the board does, it has scheduled a special public meeting for Wednesday, December 8, at 8 p.m. in Community Park School to seek public comment. Under the state's thorough and efficient education law, the burden of proof is on the board to show that it must have the money in order to provide a thorough and efficient education for all students.

At the regular board meeting next Tuesday – also at 8 p.m. in Community Park -- the board will discuss various policy questions such as attendance zones, corporal punishment, leaves and absences for staff and revised administrative procedures.

The board has accepted, as of November 8, the resignation of Ruth Randall, social studies teacher at John Witherspoon Middle Schools. Mrs. Randall had originally asked for a one year's leave of absence.

MORE BB SHOOTING

Window Is Hit. Two small holes appeared in an 80-by-60 inch window of the home of I. Thomas Cundiff, 12 Pardoe Circle, which Township police believe were caused by a BB-type gun. The window is valued at $250.

There were cushions outside the window where a cat sleeps and police believe the culprit was shooting at the animal. A short distance away, three street lights were also shot out, police said.

FROM CHINA

Christmas Sale Planned. A Christmas sale of products from China will be sponsored by the US-China Peoples Friendship Association on Saturday, November 27, and December 4 at 20 Nassau Street, Room 243, from 10 to 5.

Among the products for sale will be greeting cards, jackets, shoes, tea, canned food, candies, tea pots, rice bowls, paper cuts, books, and toys.

GIANT MAP DRAWN

As Teaching Aid. Responding to a suggestion that Princeton Day School's lower school needed a giant map of the United States in order to understand the size and special features of the country better, Fred Woodbridge, an 11th grade student from Carter Road volunteered to take up the challenge.

Fred brought a long-time interest in drawing maps and working with his own map collection to the job, so he quickly received permission to do the project on the large blacktop area in back of PDS's main building. Working with a large map from National Geographic and a grid system which magnified each feature ten fold, Fred soon completed the planning for the job.

Then, with the part-time help of "Lo" Faber, a fifth grader from Belle Mead, the map was laid out using stones and strings as markers on the blacktop. A period equal to about eight working days and much patience was required for Fred to trace the map with traffic marking paint.

The result is that lower school students can now "walk around" the United States, and the variety of geography games which can be played on the map is almost limitless. Steven Gilbert, head of the lower school, remarked that, "Fred Woodbridge has created a fine new teaching aid for your younger students that they find fascinating."

HEIRLOOMS GIVEN

To Clarke House. The historic Clarke House on the Princeton Battlefield has received a number of family heirlooms from the Edward R. Lewis family of Pennington. The donations were made in a ceremony sponsored by the Penelope Hart Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Pennington.

The Lewis family gave a number of articles that once belonged to their ancestors in the Olden family who came with the Clarkes and purchased large tracts of land with adjoining borders. They were members of the original group of Quakers who settled at Stony Brook and are all buried in the burial ground at the Quaker Meeting House.

Included among the items are an unusual Aeolian window harp known to have been in the Olden House before the Battle of Princeton; an early siver spoon marked MEO which belonged to Martha Earle Olden; and silver sugar tongs marked SWS which belonged to Susannah Worth Smith whose mother was Sarah Olden. The ends of the tongs are cupped like teaspoons to hold brown sugar that was used as a sweetener at that time.

Also given was a rare foot muff made of the fur of a wildcat, its head decorating the top and raccoon tails finishing the edge, lined with the fur of a black sheep on a base of good leather. Amy R. Olden's much used red pocket-book for sewing articles with a small mirror inside and a black bordered funeral invitation to the residence of Emily Olden after his death at a very advanced age conclude the Olden heirlooms.

A pamphlet containing six pages of researched records on the Olden family, giving 12 generations from William Olden who settled there in 1696 down to the Edward W. Lewis family of Pennington who released the heirlooms, was also presented to the Clarke House.

At the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis presented the articles assisted by Mrs. Miles A. Walsh of Cranbury, the New Jersey State chairman of the N.J. DAR Bicentennial Committee who was guest of honor. Mrs. Marcus Wright, a direct descendant of the Oldens, attended, and Mrs. Howard F. Tomlinson, chaplain of the Penelope Hart Chapter, gave a prayer. Richard Baker, president of the Battlefield Preservation Society received the donations and Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding II and the curator, Mrs. Ernest Bowman were hostesses.

AUCTION SCHEDULED

Win a Vacation House. Want a plane ride over the Stony Brook-Millstone watersheds? Want a wine tasting planned for your own special taste?

How would you like to have a house on Martha's Vineyard for two weeks? These and more than a hundred other unusual prizes will be auctioned off at a Crepes-and-Cider party on Sunday, December 5.

On that date, says Mrs. Marvin Reed, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association will provide crepes–all sorts of crepes, prepared before your eyes–and sparkling cider fresh from the press. The place is the main dining room of the Institute for Advanced Study, the time 5 to 8 and the admission price $7.50 per person. There will be a cash bar.

And it's true, you might be the winner of an hour's plane ride for three persons to show you the region from Hopewell Township to the Lake Carnegie dam where the Watersheds Association for the past 28 years has taken an active lead in educating people on land use and water quality. The Association also maintains a 400-acre reserve on which it directs a six weeks Environmental Education Day Camp every summer.

With such a mission, it is predictable that the auction will be environmentally oriented. According to Mrs. Martin Katz, Chairman of the Auction Committee, you will be able to bid for a trip to the bird sanctuary at Brigantine with lunch included, two days and a night of camping for up to three children, help in planning and planting your garden or several varieties of nature trips. An afternoon of sailing instruction for two is an interesting possibility for Lake Carnegie, while a sailboat and canoe can be had on Honeybrook Lake.

Book collectors will like the rare "Birds of Princeton" by William Rogers Babson (1901) and an autographed copy of "The Pine Barrens" by John McPhee, not to mention an autographed "Joy of Cooking" and numerous other volumes.

There will be crewel work, patchwork and needlepoint, dinners and foods, firewood that's cut and wood for cutting, homemade wine and two bottles of a fabulous vintage.

But if you're holiday-minded and gearing up for a festive dinner, what you'd probably like most to win is a maid and butler for the evening.

TO DISCUSS COINS

Of Revolutionary Period. What sort of change would a continental soldier have carried in his pocket? Or a student, buying a mug of ale at the Hudibras Tavern in 1776?

These are among the questions up for discussion when the Children's History Project meets at the Public Library on Monday, December 6, at 3:30. Brooks Levy, Curator of Numismatics at Firestone Library, will discuss coins of the Revolutionary period. Children ages 8 to 14 may register for the program at the children's desk of the Library.

Sadly, every Thanksgiving thousands of people buy turkeys at stereo sales.

Announcing Tech Hifi's Thanksgiving Sale. With a "Turkey-Proof" Guarantee.

About this time of year, lots of stores start advertising huge "stereo sales with really big savings." It sounds good on paper, but once you get to those stores you usually discover that those big savings only apply to lo-fi compacts "with all the trimmings," or discontinued components that have been taking up space in the stockroom for months. In other words, "turkeys."

That's why it's a better idea to come in to Tech Hifi... where you always get big savings on the kind of components that do justice to your favorite music. We carry over one hundred of the best names in stereo, and we guarantee you the lowest prices... even when other stores are having a "sale." (The massive buying power of our fifty-four stores makes this possible.)

Stereo systems you can be proud of.

For no more money than many of those "turkey" systems gobble up, you can come in to Tech Hifi and get a quality music system featuring components from three of the most respected companies in the business: Harman Kardon, Ohm and Garrard. The Harman Kardon 330B stereo receiver delivers ample power for the Ohm E two-way loudspeakers to achieve truly impressive levels of volume, with very little distortion. A reliable Garrard 125SB belt-drive turntable with a base, dust-cover and ADC 91Q induced-magnetic cartridge complete this value-packed system.

Ohm harman kardon Garrard $399

If you like to listen to music for extended periods of time, and enjoy FM as much as records, this system with the Harman Kardon TA600 stereo receiver, Micro Acoustics FRM-2 Multi-Axial loudspeakers and a Philips GA427 belt-drive turntable is likely to be just what you're looking for. It'll play as loudly as you like, for as long as you like (and sound great while you're doing it). In other words, it's about as far from your average "turkey" as you can get!

Other quality music systems at Tech Hifi range from $200, to $2,000.

Philips harman kardon ma audio-technica $699

Our "Turkey-Proof" Guarantee.

Tech Hifi's "Turkey-Proof" guarantee is actually fourteen guarantees rolled into one. These include our famous Seven-Day 100% Moneyback Guarantee.

What's more, our Thirty-Day Price Protection Guarantee means we'll never make a "turkey" out of you by making you pay more than you have to. Even when other stores are having a "sale," we'll guarantee you the lowest price.

After he arrives, he will go directly to Santaland, his New Jersey residence, where he will be staying until Christmas. Boya and girls may come and visit with Santa Monday through Friday from noon to 5, and Saturdays from 10 to 5.

MEETING TUESDAY

For Parents Without Partners. "I'm Somebody" is the theme of the Body Language talk to be given by Dr. William Beeners at the Parents Without Partners meeting Tuesday at 8 at the Princeton Country Club on Route 1.

Dr. Beeners, Professor of Speech at Princeton Theological Seminary, feels that in the communication process, words rate only 7 percent, facial expression 55 percent and the responsibility of communication rests with the speaker. It is not what we say, he declares, but how it is interpreted that is important.

Dancing to live music will follow the program and newcomers are invited. Parents Without Partners is a group of adults who are unmarried, widowed, divorced or separated. For further information call evenings, 924-2064 or 201-297-5854; days, 924-1723.

AUCTION PLANNERS: Linda Maiden, Mettie Fisher and Margy McCluskey, officers of the Princeton Alumnae Club of Kappa Alpha Theta, preview some of the items collected for their December 5 Christmas Buffet and White Elephant Auction, to be held at the Hopewell home of Mrs. Maiden. Proceeds will be donated to charity.

206 Speed Limits Lowered

The state has reduced the speed limits on Route 206 on both its northern and southern segments.

The limit will now be 45 m.p.h. between Lovers Lane and the Township line – that's 1,600 feet north of Province Line. The limit will be 35 m.p.h. between Leigh Avenue and a point 850 feet north of Birch Avenue, and 40 m.p.h. from there to Ewing.

Signs are expected to be posted shortly.

BATTLE REPORT DUE

Historian to Speak. "The Fox in the Cockpit: the Battle of Princeton as Heroic Epic" is the title of an illustrated address to be given Sunday, December 5, at 8 in Alexander Hall by Thomas J. Wertenbaker Jr. The talk is sponsored by the Bicentennial Committee and the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society.

The focus of Mr. Wertenbaker's talk will be on "time, troops and terrain at the Battle of Princeton," and he will tell the story in words and pictures from the moment of Washington's crossing of the Delaware on Christmas night to the march toward winter quarters in Morristown, the 10 crucial days that "saved America."

Thomas J. Wertenbaker Jr.

Although there were eye witness reports and even some maps and pictures from the Battle, Mr. Wertenbaker acknowledges that all the testimony is fragmentary and conflicting in details. "Numerous historians have pieced together plausible accounts, "he says, "but every version, including my own, is to some extent an imaginative reconstruction."

Mr. Wertenbaker feels that the story of the battle lends itself to retelling as an American epic. In his view, the epic hero is General George Washington, "tbe fox," the worthy antagonist is Lt. Gen. Charles Lord Cornwallis, "the modern Hannibal," and the 10 crucial days campaign in New Jersey, the state called "the Cockpit of the Revolution," rescued the sinking American cause from impending diaster and foreshadowed its ultimate triumph.

Mr. Wertenbaker has been researching the Battle of Princeton for the past two years under a grant from the New Jersey Historical Commission. His father, the late professor Thomas J. Wertenbaker, wrote an account of the battle that was published in 1922 on the occasion of the dedication by President Harding of the Princeton Battle Monument.

Convention of Students from throughout the State to Discuss U.S. Constitution as Part of Observance of 'Ten Crucial Days'

A Youth Constitutional Convention which will bring together high school students from throughout New Jersey will be a highlight of the Bicentennial Festival of the Ten Crucial Days.

The period will begin December 25, with re-enactment of Washington's crossing of the Delaware, and last through Monday, January 3, when some 1,200 troops representing the Colonial Army, the British and the Hessians, will re-trace the Battle of Princeton. Details were published in TOWN TOPICS' issue of November 4.

Every public and private school with grades 9-12 in the State has been invited to select two representatives each to participate in the conference to discuss the U.S. Constitution--its strengths and weaknesses--as the nation enters its third century.

The conference will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 27-29, at Rider College in Lawrenceville. The students will be housed at the college.

Former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, chairman of the State Bicentennial Commission, said:

"The battles of Trenton and Princeton were the turning points of the Revolution, out of which grew this nation and the Constitution which governs it. Therefore, it is appropriate that students should come to the Trenton-Princeton area during the 200th anniversaries of those battles to discuss the Constitution and its relevance to our third century."

Approximately 300 students already have indicated they will participate in the Conference. Each participating school will be assigned a specific section of the Constitution to analyze before the Conference opens.

Among the constitutional areas to be analyzed by the students will be federalism versus states rights, First Amendment rights, the rights of the accused, the electoral college, the effectiveness and responsiveness of the Congress and the authority and accountability of the judiciary.

At the Monday, December 27, opening session, the students will be addressed by Gov. Meyner and Professor Emeritus Alpheus T. Mason of Princeton University, a scholar in constitutional law.

For the next two and one half days, the students will be divided into study and discussion groups according to the sections of the Constitution they have been assigned. On the final afternoon, Wednesday, December 29, all the students will convene and each group will report on its Constitutional area.

Following the Conference, these reports will be compiled, edited and distributed to every secondary school in New Jersey and other interested organizations and institutions.

Board to draw together all the various housing studies has completed his work, and will report to the board in two public meetings.

The first will be held next Tuesday, November 30, at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall, and the second on Thursday, December 16. The public is invited, but discussion will be limited to board and consultant.

EAGLE SCOUT NAMED

At Court of Honor. The highlight of the fall Court of Honor of Scout Troop 43, sponsored by the Nassau Presbyterian Church, was the presentation of an Eagle badge to William Stokes Jr., of 120 Jefferson Road. A member of the troop since 1970, he has served as patrol leader and assistant senior patrol leader and is presently an assistant scoutmaster of the troop. For his Eagle project, he coordinated the Princeton participation in the UNICEF Hallowe'en project and forwarded to the national organization more than $2,300.

Three other Eagle Scouts of the troop received palms in recognition of their continued activity in Scouting and increased Scouting skills. Dan Challener and Fred Ward received gold palms, Richard Schorske a bronze palm.

NEW EAGLE SCOUT: Bill Stokes of Troop 43 has achieved the top level in Scouting.

Badges for each of the other ranks in Scouting were also presented to one or more Scouts. Steve Moede was recognized as a Life Scout. Tom Fleming, Jim Hodges, Leonard Kim, and Adam and Peter Meggitt received Star Scout badges. A First Class badge went to Bruce Cobb.

Rob Flory, Nick Hastings, and Alan Little received Second Class badges. Hunter Allen, Alan Little, and Andy Phillips got Tenderfoot badges.

Receiving their first Scout badges were Macky Alston, Chris Cornely, Josh Davis, David Hoagland, Michael Huey, Jerry Ingram, Eric Schwartz, Kelvin Sensenig, Michael Sheehan, Blair Spruill, Ian Webb, and Chip Wilkerson.

More than 120 merit badges and 30 skill awards were presented during the evening.

For the Early Christmas Shopper, Some Ideas To Help Make Gift-Buying Easier This Season

Each year the first Christmas efforts seem a bit premature. Thanksgiving has yet to be celebrated, and the sun continues to have a lovely warmth, making it difficult to visualize a frosty Christmas Eve with small stockings hung by the fireplace.

Yet, the many catalogs on our doorstep, the post office's Christmas mailing announcements and decorations beginning to appear along Nassau Street remind us that if everything is to be in its place by December 25th, we can't delay.

Once again we have started to comb the area stores in search of suggestions to help you complete your many present lists. But before we begin those, here are some Christmas decorations and accents to put you in the right mood.

IT'S NEW To Us

Why not festively trim the house with needlepointed goodies from Clayton's Yarn Shop on Palmer Square. These range from marvelous ornaments such as a brown horse with a green saddle, red harness and fluffy mane to an elaborated three-dimensional tree that is beautifully detailed with ornaments, CHRISTMAS AT NORDICRAFT. Once again Nordicraft has a delightful Christmas shop filled with Scandinavian decorations, sich as these proud straw goats dressed with red ribbons and natural wood advent tree ready to be trimmed with 25 different small packages.

presents and perfectly matched garlands, $6.50 and $50 respectively for the canvases.

Particularly cute (and reasonably priced) is the needlepoint Santa doll with a fluffy white beard. He comes in a complete kit and costs $20. We also liked the quilted calico ornaments which come in kits of three bells, stockings or canes and cost just $3.

Each year Nordicraft, 356 Nassau Street, sets up a delightful Christmas shop filled with traditional Scandinavian ornaments -- wood and straw hearts, pigs, angels, bells and apples, priced from 10 cents to $3.50.

A favorite of ours here are the advent candle holders which have room for four candles, one of which is meant to be lit each week. It's a lovely way to mark the time before Christmas and the designs are charming, such as a long narrow red metal box with a border of pierced hearts, $8.50.

Other suggestions are a white paper tree mobile filled with doves, a wooden circle with two sleeping elves tucked inside alongside a sprig of evergreen, or a delicate pinecone table wreath trimmed with red wooden berries, green leaves, white dried flowers and spaces for four small candles, $7.50 to $15.

Expressions at the Princeton Shopping Center is another Christmas store and just the spot for cards, wrappings, paper goods, marvelous plastic glasses and most important heavy boxes and padded envelopes for mailing.

Childhood loves are not easily forgotten, and we found two of ours here. One is a marvelous Austrian snowscene that you shake so that the snow swirls around Santa on his sled; while the other is a German windmill that turns from the heat of four small candles and thus rotates a miniature scene of wooden trees and people, $6.95 and $23.50 respectively.

Expressions also has handcrafted Bayberry candles that legend says will bring you wealth and good luck through the New Year, Hallmark's 1976 ornaments, one of which features a Norman Rockwell Santa feeding his reindeer, and Gorham's sterling snowflake and Santa ornaments, $1.75 to $20.

Then after you've set the table with a holly, poinsettia or solid cloth made from fabric ($3 or $3.50 a yard, 54-inches wide), at The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street and dressed the bathroom with appliqued fingertip towels and decorated soap in Christmas designs that won't wash off, from The Hope Chest in the Montgomery Shopping Center, curl up before a fire in the perfect Christmas robe. This is a red brushed nylon classic wrapped style with white banding piped in green down the front and around the cuffs, $35 at Edith's on Chambers Street.

On to the Gift Lists. Now, let's get to work on those lists. If you're buying for someone very special, certainly furs and leather rank high in the luxury category and the place for these is Grannick's in the Lawrenceville Shopping Center.

Here you'll find furs that include rabbit, red fox and mink, to name but three, priced from $150 to $6,000. Particularly attractive is a white and light brown natural curly lamb hooded jacket with toggle closings to keep all the warmth close to you, $300.

We also liked a fur trimmed dark beige suede coat with handsome stitching detail and a tied waist, $204, and a fun-fur double-breasted coat by Grandella II with the warmth and texture of mink, but not the price tag, $222.

Other choices here were a suede-like dusty pink suit with a finely tailored blazer, that can surprisingly be hand-washed, a pure wool mid-calf hooded red cape, and for a smaller gift one of Anne Klein's gold or silver belts with a lion or ram buckle, $16 to $140.

Then while you're in Lawrence Township stop by Robert Varga on Route One at Texas Avenue where we found some stylish warm sweaters. One, a collared pullover by Outlander, is a nubby textured blend of acrylic, mohair, wool and nylon in a combination of blues or browns, while the other features a bell sleeve and a South American Aztec design across the bodice, both about $60.

Tunics are a definite fashion note this season, and from Geoffrey Beene's Bag we chose a polyester one in brown, red, beige or cream, $64. Then for pure extravagance, why not a Clemente fabric umbrella in a gay print to brighten any Spring shower, $52. Although umbrellas are obviously special here, others do start in price from $15.

New Ideas for Purses. Unfortunately, purses are a necessity as certain items such as keys and money must be carried, but Ralph Lauren has designed one that totally frees you for hikes, horseback riding or whatever. This is a small brown one attached to a one and one-half inch leather belt, $72. We also liked Clovis Ruffin's satin drawstring pouch in black, beige or red for evening wear, and a snake and lizard clutch that is perfect at any time, $10 and $130 respectively.

Then out in Kingston on Main Street at RFD, Ltd., a pleasant store in a charming 18th century house, owner Frederick Scudder has chosen a group of long skirts for the upcoming holiday season. Priced at $40, there is a purple brocade, a floating blue silk, wools, and velveteens in white, coffee or charcoal grey.

There is also a group of carefully selected accessories – the kind so necessary to complete any outfit. We liked a fringed brown shawl, black satin purse with a twisted gold chain and clasp, and Matt Hyvarinen's sterling and rock quartz jewelry, $16.50 to $40.

Holiday clothes are at The English Shop, 32 Nassau Street, too, where we were most taken by a one-shoulder slinky white Trevira polyester dress with three wide diagonal areas of black dots set off by a few red flowers, $44 by Leslie Fay.

We also liked a simple long-sleeved white jumpsuit with a touch of glitter in its exposed zipper, as well as a more conservative black one that is great when teamed with a white blouse, $60 and $48 respectively. Short cocktail dresses (particularly black ones) are fashionable once again, and these are here, too.

Sweaters are a standard Christmas gift, and never have we seen a larger selection than here. Not only are there Fair Isles, striped, patchwork, cable and solid shetlands, but also many others that coordinate perfectly with the Pendleton, Blyle and Pringle clothes.

Skirts in Sherbert Colors. Pringle's winter skirts are particularly enchanting as they come in sherbert colors – pale orange, blue, lavendar or green, $45 and $50. We also liked Pendleton's new collection of blue plaids (at least three different ones) which includes every imaginable separate. There are pants, skirts, vests, blazers, shirt jackets, tunics and even culottes, $32 to $85, and there are coordinating solids and sweaters, too.

While these soft colors certainly brighten the winter months, so does a trip South. So if you know someone with such plans in mind, consider giving cruisewear this Christmas.

In bright Southern colors there is Haymaker's new collection which is high-noted by a green, white and yellow and blue striped jacket that coordinates with slacks, skirts, golf skirts, and shirts. We should also mention before leaving this store Leslie Fay's deep blue chalk-stripe polyester pants suit with its pure white vest. It is sure to be admired anywhere it's worn, $90.

Heading South? Winter vacations are also in mind at Edith's on Chambers Street where we found two new bathing suit prints, both of which have marvelous coverups. The overall brown and rust print comes in a soft bra, bikini pant and jumpsuit coverup that could easily be worn on its own; while the blue, green and mauve watercolor floral one has a skirted bikini, pant, soft wired bra, and either a shirt or handkerchief caftan for a coverup. Each piece is separately priced – a great advantage as few people are equally sized on the top and bottom – from $11.50 to $39.

One of the best aspects of Edith's is the tremendous variety you'll find here. For instance there is a robe for all tastes – such as a junior sized zip-front white velour one that is accented by wide set-in brown stripes on the collar and sleeves, $22; a multi-colored robe quilted along its vertically slanted stripes, $36; or a pure wool basket-weave classic front-buttoned one that is available in pale blue or pink trimmed with lace or appliqued satin, $115.

The gowns are just as varied ranging from a long brown hooded junior one that is reminiscent of a monk's robe to a sexy black one with black lace flowers set against a nude colored bodice for a tatooed effect, $16 and $30. The black gown also has a black cage – understandably sheer but still something to throw over you in case the doorbell rings, $16.

Pucci prints are aought after by many women, and it is never too late to begin a collection as each year there are new designs. This season a series of small dots on a white background is set off by a border of leaves. The gowns, robes, half-slips, bras, bikinis and dresses come in two color combinations – an orange, brown and red or pink, purple and grey, – and the prices start at $6.

At-Home or Out. And, don't forget that Edith's also has a group of evening clothes, some of which are mainly for at-home lounging but many of which could easily go to the most formal affair. We particularly liked Olga's long-sleeved heather blue sweater dress that buttons all the way down the front, $60, as well as a jewel neck chiffon caftan in a watered floral print of sea green and mauve, (also in tangerine tones,) $135.

Christmas is the biggest party season of the year and we found more holiday clothes up the street at Elle. For the practical-minded we liked the long polyester dresses by Clovis Ruffin and John Kloss because they will go right into Spring and then on to next Fall.

Then for a more sophisticated look we chose Frank Olivier's silk shirts. They come in several colors, and are lovely when teamed with his fully cut black, navy or brown crepe pants, $60 and $68 respectively.

However, if you are lacking someone's size -- and how often this happens – think in terms of a long pure silk batik scarf that looks equally well when worn on a head or around the waist, $12. Other thoughts are an elegantly hand-embroidered peasant blouse by Emmanuelle Khanh or a strand of hand-detailed Moroccan or Venetian beads, from $10.

What's New In Perfumes. What could be more romantic than a gift of fragrance this year? We realize this is a field that leaves many shoppers unsure, particularly when trying to choose for another, and we can think of no one more qualified to help than Dorothea in Thompson Court (behind 195 Nassau Street.)

She has several lines that can only be found here, such as Germaine Monteil's selection of makeup, treatments and fragrances, and for Christmas there are several special promotions. For instance with any purchase you can buy for only $12.50 a smoky plastic three-tier module with samples of Germaine Monteil's complete line. Also, on its way is a handsome gold and blue snowflake print box with a similar group of products, including the addition of nailpolish, for $10 with any purchase.

Essence Rare by Houbigant is an exceptionally nice gift because the packaging is so outstanding. This dry floral fragrance that "goes on softly and never seems to end" is in bottles that look like the bark of a tree, and they could easily be mistaken for Scandinavian crystal, from $4.50 for the cologne spray.

Other fragrances here are Interlude by Frances Denney which comes in a hard-to-find cream perfume; Ecusson and Casaque by Jean D'Albret which is currently offering a promotional body lotion of each at $3.50; and Dior's three fragrances -- Miss Dior, Diorissimo and Diorello -- which you can try in their perfume form for only $3.75 (regularly $9.50) with any $5 purchase.

Fragrant gifts are also at The Hope Chest, Montgomery Shopping Center, in the form of scented candles, accessory cases, drawer lining paper and satin padded hangers, $3 to $3.95.

This is the store for a variety of luxury items that make life so much pleasanter. There is a floral satin bed caddy with five pockets to keep everything organized, a terry foam-backed bath cushion with suction cups to keep it in place, and new double-welted corduroy bedrests that are fully packed and come in several colors including a cheery red, $4.50 to $16.98.

And Now, the Bath Scarf. We learned there is news in the towel world – a new shape. This is Halston's bath scarf that is just the right size to hang around your neck when washing up, and it can easily double for sports too. It comes in brown, navy or silver terry velour with a sculptured "H" pattern, and costs $10.

Most attractive is a three-piece gift set of monogramed towels with a single blue initial set inside a pastel floral wreath on white terry cloth, $22.98, and for a complete bathroom look there is even a matching naugahyde toilet seat with aluminum hinges, $39.98.

Craft Show At University Store

Prominently displayed at the foot of the University Store's stairs is a craft show belonging to Transformations, a co-operative of area craftsmen who wish to explore new ways of presenting designer crafts to the public.

This sale and show, which will be here until after Christmas, is their first project, but more importantly it is also something new for the Princeton area. Previously shoppers interested in crafts have needed to visit a gallery or find a one-day show, but now Transformations has placed its crafts in a more traditional retail environment – the kind of place you can browse in and return to many times.

The work is varied including prints on colored plexiglass by Gary Kreger; yarns of angora or homespun wool that have been colored with natural vegetable dyes by Linda Berry Walker; and small pottery bird feeders in several colors by Connie Bracci-McIndoe who says she has tested them to assure they will attract small birds only.

Naturally, there is a great selection of pottery, all of which is reasonably priced because Transformations wants this to be a sale, not an exhibit.

We particularly liked Lucy Scanlon's large round planter that is suggestive of a woven basket and Marilyn Garnick's oven-proof stoneware pots with leaf sculptures on the lids. However, there are also mugs, soup tureens, casseroles, vases and more, priced from approximately $3 to $30.

Most interesting is Betty Park's child's swing made of tan and red-orange natural yarn. It holds up to 30 pounds and can later be used for a plant by merely removing the velvet cushion, $35.

Other pieces include Alexandra Wahl's silver jewelry; the raffia and feather baskets of Cheryl Vernon; unique wooden jewelry by Betty Ruth Curtiss; Till Miller's plants; and pottery by Marion Weiss, Martha Wright, Helena Fraker, Ilse Johnson and Yvonne Aronson.

In addition to being able to conveniently view crafts for the first time in a retail environment, the craftsmen also feel this offers an opportunity for the public to learn more about them. A member of the group will be there at all times, and there is also a marvelous book of pictures and notes by each artist. As one member of Transformations said, "This is our effort to communicate."

While this is basically a bath and linen shop, we found a number of unusual gift thoughts here. For instance, there are lucite monogramed key rings which can be ordered into mid-December, $6.98; a powerful magnifying glass that is so strong you can finally forget your eyeglasses when applying makeup, $5.98; and a group of glass rooters to help you start new plants in charming shapes such as a strawberry or a dolphin, $3.98 to $4.98.

Back at Expressions, the Gellners are most excited about the Eltron razor by Braun which features the famous foil shaving system that has been popular throughout the world and finally is available here. There are two models, an electric one at $50 and a rechargeable one at $80 – and this has got to be high on the list for any special man.

By the way, this store is also offering Braun's juice extractor, citrus juicer and coffee mill at special prices, $60, $30 and $18 respectively.

Music In Boxes. Another sought after item here are the music boxes. The collection is varied, including a wooden bird cage with several birds inside that plays, – what else, but bird songs, a see-through piano with the melody "We've Only Just Begun," and a handsomely finished wooden box with a hunting print on the top that plays "The Emperor Waltz," $15 to $30.

We also liked the amusing large terra cotta plants of animals such as a gorilla or bulldog; the glass cheese dome set on a glass base decorated with a large red strawberry; and the white Italian plastic trays with beautiful wildlife scenes on them, $14 to $29.

For a fanciful Christmas gift, do look at the Desmone tableware at The Princeton Gourmet Shop, 344 Nassau Street. Made in Italy, these colorful plates, bowls, mugs and serving pieces have a Piccaso-type feel to them, and they are extremely well priced, $8.50 to $26.

We also saw here, without doubt, the most enchanting china pattern to appear in some years. Made by Villeroy & Boch, a 400-year old Luxembourg firm, this white china edged in dark brown features on each piece a different flower accurately colored and properly called by its botanical name. $35 for a five-piece place setting. In addition, there are an unusual number of extra pieces, including wooden trivets and casseroles that go in the oven.

When it comes to serving pieces, Nambe is hard to beat. It has the brilliance of silver, and yet because it is actually an alloy of eight different metals, it is durable to the point of being able to be placed over an open flame or used in the freezer to keep a dessert icy cold. It is not inexpensive, but it does serve many uses. For instance, a covered casserole is $67, but the cover doubles as a platter. Other pieces start at $14 for a small dish.

Other oven-to-table wear that should be mentioned are the French L. Louriou casseroles and baking dishes beautifully decorated with the game birds of J.J. Audubon, from $20; and the Jena glassware collection that includes a hot hors d'oeuvre tray as well as a glass teapot with an infuser that works equally well for chilled martinis as for hot tea, $13 and $25.

For Specially-Loved Cooks. When it comes to your favorite cook, the ultimate word in food preparation is the Cuisinart Food Processor, an incredible French machine that chops, purees, slices and grates and even makes puff pastry before you have time to think about possible errors. It costs $225, but is a luxury gift bound to provide hours of enjoyment, and many delicious dishes.

Although we've already talked about Nordicraft's Christmas shop, we also want to mention that this is one of our favorite spots as there is always a carefully chosen group of gifts.

Carl Larsson was a well-known late nineteenth century Swedish painter and illustrator, and his work can now be found on tin trays and boxes as well as on framed prints and posters, $6.50 to $29. Our favorite is the poster of a Swedish child in a long red dress and knitted cap carrying a wooden basket filled with apples. By the way, these same baskets still exist and you can buy them here, from $15.

There is something here for every family member. Starting with the youngest, we liked a natural wood piggy bank; while for sister we chose a hand-knitted mohair hat from Finland, $24.

For Dad there is a handsome model of a magnificent three-masted schooner, $98 (but other boats start at $5.50), for mother we liked a black or tan soft natural leather tote bag with an outside pocket, $45; while for grandmother we picked out a lucite tray with a count-the-thread cross-stitch design she could work later, about $28.

Make It Yourself. Handmade gifts always carry a special meaning and there is still time to work on some small projects. For instance a child would enjoy the cut-out Santa we found at The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street, $2.50 for the fabric.

Also here is striped linen for tea towels, $1.39 a yard and you only need three-quarters of this; as well as materials for expandable belts. Gold and silver buckles are available, too, and this project is so simple that even a non-sewer will be tempted, $2.49 for the belting and $1.19 for the buckles.

For the more experienced seamstress there are some exquisite Belgium metallic knits just right for a holiday dress, $15 a yard, 60 inches wide. We also admired the pure wool gabardines by Anglo Fabrics, and could quickly imagine a gaucho outfit in any of the many colors which included tan, creme, rust, blue, navy and emerald green, $15 a yard and this, too, is 60 inches wide.

However, if you are saying I'm not a sewer, but there is one on my list, why not a pair of Fiskar scissors, $9, or a Vogue Sewing book, $1.50. These are in-depth books, each of which covers a different area such as trims, jumpsuits, knits or even menswear.

Clayton's Yarn Shop also has a few last-minute projects. You can quickly knit or crochet slipper socks for every family member, $1.98 for the soles and directions; pettipoint a case for small stork scissors (included with the canvas) that are so perfect for snipping wool or ripping out a few stitches, $18; or make an appealing eyeglass case in a patchwork design or one with a peacock whose tail travels on to the other side, $12.

Then, for the needlepointer on your list, there is a wonderful group of kits and canvases you can give. Our favorites were the premounted jewelry cases in green, blue or yellow moire, $25; a group of kitchen pictures that include pre-cut mats printed with tempting recipes, $12; and Astor Place's new boy dolls of football players, baseballmen or firemen, $16.

Down-to-Earth Notes

A One-Question Quiz with a One-Word Answer. I wonder how many of you can answer this multi-million dollar question: What six letter word has an enormous and permanent effect on our taxes, our water supply, our recreational facilities, our regional development, and the visual impact of our surroundings? Before I give the answer (if you haven't guessed it) let me say the word is not only "dirty" but dull and confusing; so we tend to ignore it even though it is essential to our own future welfare that we become interested in learning more about its implications.

That's where this column and a possible future followup may be of some help – I hope. To get on with it – the answer to my question is the word SEWERS.

In an era and an area that are fraught with problems – many of them controversial – sewage treatment has perhaps headed the list of controversial subjects the longest. Since the late 1960's there have been many meetings, innumerable discussions, multitudinous written words; and in late 1976 those concerned are still wrestling with the problem.

Why? Perhaps that question can be answered most simply with an analogy from the world of sports.

The Build-a-Sewer League. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) heads this "League" and formulates the "rules of the game" (criteria that must be met and documentation that must be provided.) It also acts as the "umpire" and awards the "prize" to the winner of the "State Series," said prize being funding for a new sewage treatment system (presently 75 percent federal, 6 percent state, the rest local.)

Before a "team" can play in the Series, it must reach and win the "Playoffs," i.e., must have its "game plan" approved by the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection (DEP). The rules of the game can and have changed over the years, due to new federal laws covering environmental impact statements, water quality, etc.; but there has been sufficient advance discussion of these changes for the Build-a-Sewer coaches to anticipate and adapt to them.

TheLocal Entry. The Stony Brook Regional Sewer Authority (SA) – consisting of a member from each of seven municipalities: Princeton Borough and Township, Hopewell Borough and Township, Pennington, West Windsor and South Brunswick, plus a staff -- has fielded a "team" in the League. After forming its team and starting work on its game plan (a feasibility plan and design work for a regional sewer) in 1968, SA was informed in 1970 of a new rule – the need for an environmental assessment. Consequently, an environmental assessment for the SA's regional Plan A, prepared by the firm of Metcalf & Eddy, was submitted to DEP for approval (the Playoffs) in June 1973. (Plan A involves construction of a long interceptor line across much open country from the upstream area – Hopewell and Pennington – to the new treatment plant on River Road in Princeton.)

The SA team won the Playoffs in a squeaker – the DEP preferred an alternative three-plant plan but nevertheless approved the plan contingent on the providing of further information by SA. The plan, however, was disapproved by EPA because of the lack of essential information on which to base its decision. So SA lost that Series because it had not played by the rules of the game.

The next attempt to win the Series came when SA commissioned another environmental assessment, completed in January 1976 by the firm of Roy F. Weston. This, too, reached the State Series, only to lose when the umpire decided once again that the SA team was not playing the game properly. (EPA, incidentally, enforces its rules to the letter of the law, dotting each i and crossing each t, when dealing with an environmentally-sensitive or controversial project. This one is both.)

The SA coach was informed of this decision in a letter from EPA's Mark Savedoff received on October 12, 1976. The EPA letter informed SA that "the following items must be resolved before our approval can be given" and then listed ten "rules of the game" that the team had not played by. The ten items not properly resolved included problems connected with the following:

1) changes due to revised discharge criteria; 2) land costs in spray irrigation alternatives; 3) impacts on endangered species or habitats; 4) Hopewell's position re SA; 5) impacts of spray irrigation; 6) transferral of existing discharges; 7) provision of water supply to the area; 8) lack of response to comments and questions at the May 20, 1976 public hearing; 9) insufficient documentation of cost effective and water quality analysis; 10) inadequate discussion alternatives to Plan A.

In connection with no. 10, I should add that SA has kept the starting lineup of its team exactly the same all these years, i.e., its adherence to Plan A has remained unchanged and apparently unchangeable, despite its lack of success in winning the Series. There are many "fans" (state and local officials, experts on wastewater and water supply, concerned citizens, environmentalists) who think that there are better players sitting on the bench, namely Plans D or X. The latter plans propose two small plants for Hopewell and Pennington, plus the Princeton plant, eliminating the cross-country interceptor.

The latest try by the SA team is a report commissioned from the firm of Westwater, Gaston & Dunka, recently released. Whether the team has learned to play by most of the rules of the game remains to be seen. It will not, however, be among this year's entries in the Playoffs since it has not met one of the most important regulations: the rule of time. Off the field and back to the world of reality and hard cash for clarification.

December 1 Deadline. $208,000,000 remains of the federal grant money for construction of municipal sewage treatment facilities in the state. The Stony Brook Regional Sewer is No. 25 on the priority list of 108 applicants.

In order to receive funding, applicants must have submitted all necessary documentation to DEP by December 1. In a notice to "Public Official and Other Interested Persons" dated November 9, DEP's Rocco Ricci describes the policy governing allocation of remaining funds. Under this procedure DEP expects the downstream part of the system serving Princeton, West Windsor (an added starter), and South Brunswick will make it, i.e., meet the deadline for certification and funding. Due to (again quoting Mr. Savedoff): "insufficient information and documentation to justify any decisions regarding the selection of a final proposed plan," the upstream part of the system, serving Hopewell and Pennington, will not.

So what to do to get a winning team into the Series? May I suggest more encouragement (for information on how to do this, names, addresses, etc., you can call the Sierra Club, 924-3141.) from the home fans, for instance: 1) learning more about the game from SA, the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association, reading the papers, attending public meetings, etc.; 2) Pressuring EPA and DEP to be quick and specific about asking for information they may need for a decision; 3) pressuring SA to provide the required information quickly and specifically; 4) pressuring your representatives in Washington to make additional funds available for sewage treatment in the state so they will be there when everyone agrees on the proper game plan to win the Series. That way we'll all win.

Joseph M. Cusack

Abe Abramovich

TWO APPOINTED

At RCA Laboratories. Two appointments at RCA Laboratories have been announced. Joseph M. Cusack was named a member of the technical staff, and Abe Abramovich joined the scientific staff.

Mr. Cusack, who lives in Plainsboro, joined RCA Laboratories in 1972 as a research associate in microwave technology after receiving an A.B. degree in physics from Bowdoin College. He was awarded an M.S.E. degree in systems engineering by the University of Pennsylvania this year.

Mr. Abramovich lives in Lawrenceville. A native of Tel Aviv, Israel, he studied electrical engineering at the University of Hartford and LaSalle College and is presently attending the graduate school of engineering and applied science of Columbia University. Before joining RCA he worked for Princeton University and Western Electric.

EARNINGS UP SHARPLY

At Applied Data Research. Applied Data Research has reported record nine-month and third-quarter sales and earnings, a strong balance sheet and prospects for new records for the remainder of 1976 and in 1977 as well.

Nine-month total sales were at a record level of $11.2 million as compared to $9.5 million in 1975. Nine-month total earnings were up 472 percent to a new record of $1.1 million or 93 cents a share. The tax loss carry-forward is now fully utilized.

In the three months ending September 30 sales amounted to $3.9 million as compared to $2.9 million a year ago. Net earnings were $381,150 or 31 cents a share against $97,734 and 8 cents a share in the same period last year.

This performance resulted in a sharply improved balance sheet. The current ratio is now 2.4 to 1 compared to 1.4 to 1 at September 30, 1975. Working capital rose to $2,860,000 from $1,329,000 this time last year, and shareholders' equity is now $2.69 per share as compared to $1.61 per share at September 30,1975.

Total debt at the end of September was reduced to $2.1 million, including convertible debentures, from $3.9 million a year ago September. Bank debt is now down to $874,000.

ADR anticipates full-year records for all of 1976. Sales are projected to be in the vicinity of $15 million versus $12.7 million for 1975; earnings are projected above $1.3 million versus $431,736 for 1975. This would yield per share earnings of approximately $1.05 for the year.

RCA LABS ARE CITED

For Energy Conservation. RCA Laboratories was one of 14 companies located in New Jersey, including nine branch offices of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, which received Federal Energy Administration citations for support of energy conservation practices. The awards were issued by Alfred Kleinfeld, FEA regional administrator, as part of New Jersey Energy Awareness Month at the opening management seminar sponsored by the Department of Commerce and the New Jersey Energy Office.

RCA Laboratories were cited for a 12-month reduction of 36.5 million kilowatt hours electricity consumption, or the equivalent of 928,000 gallons of crude oil. At a cost of 40 cents a gallon, this amounts to a $370,000 savings.

"More significant, perhaps, than the gallons-and-dollars savings," Mr. Kleinfeld said, "is the conservation awareness of the participating organizations. The fuel savings will benefit commerce, industry and residents of both states".

LUNCHEON SCHEDULED

By Chamber of Commerce. Liebert V.P. Diaforli will speak on the subject of Educational Crises at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Nassau Inn on Wednesday, December 1.

Mr. Diaforli is Manager and Director of Training and Educational activities at McGraw Hill in New York. He is also vice-president of the American Society for Training and Development and chairman of the Business Education Commission, New York Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

The public is invited and may make reservations by calling the Chamber office at 921-7676.

USES NEW TECHNIQUE

To Print Lottery Tickets. System Operations, Inc., the public gaming subsidiary of Mathematica, Inc., has announced the development of a computer printed, aluminum-faced instant lottery ticket. The Princeton-based firm has already manufactured and delivered to state lotteries over 130 million computer printed, instant lottery tickets employing laminated card stock under its trade name "Compu-Instant". The new product is the culmination of 18 months of research and development.

Max Goldman, president of SOI, stated, "Previously marketed aluminum-faced tickets employed sheet press techniques to print lottery numbers. The use of modern computer technology to print lottery numbers and symbols results in major improvements in system controls, as well as in manufacturing efficiency and lower cost. Additionally, computer printing assures complete randomness in the generation of tickets so that patterns cannot be discerned for predicting winners".

SOI is a leading gaming and lottery consultant in the United States, having provided the initial design and implementation of weekly lotteries for 11 of the 13 states utilizing this form of revenue production. The firm has recently received its first international contract to provide a subscription system and an instant lottery for the Province of Quebec.

SILVER MEDAL WON

For Film on New Jersey. The Dick Roberts Film Company of 360 Nassau Street was awarded a silver medal at the International Film and Television Festival at the Americana Hotel in New York for its film "The Great Race." This film, made for the State of New Jersey, depicts the diverse scenic attractions of the state from High Point to Cape May through a race between a gyrocopter and a Stanley Steamer. It will be shown on Public Television, Channel 52, during January.

Roberts has also won a silver medal for a series of public service announcements, "Walls", "Shipwreck" and "Hands", made for the United States Catholic Conference which are currently being shown in the United States.

ART In Princeton

TO SHOW WATERCOLORS

At Present Day Club. Many of the watercolors of Lawrenceville artist Jack Garver, will be on display at the Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street, from Wednesday, December 1, through January 30.

Mr. Garver, whose works have won awards from the Salmagundi Club, Cooperstown Art Association, Watercolor U.S.A., and whose work has been selected annually for reproduction as part of the American Artists Group Christmas card collection, has been chairman of the art department of the Lawrenceville School since 1966.

Inspiration for most of Garver's work comes from his travels. Summers in Nova Scotia and Cape Cod, where he is associated with the Munson Gallery, have produced most of his coastal subjects. Trips to the Adirondacks, the southwestern United States, Mexico and Europe are responsible for other paintings on view.

The public is invited to view the exhibition for the duration of the show on weekdays except Wednesdays from 9 until 12 noon. For additional hours, an appointment may be made by calling the Present Day Club, 924-1014.

TO SHOW DRAWINGS

At PDS. Tom George, well known Princeton artist and Princeton Day School parent, will show a selection of 20 drawings and ink paintings at the Princeton Day School Gallery from Sunday, December 6, to Friday, December 17. Mr. George's work has been exhibited throughout the world, and he has been the recipient of many awards and grants.

Among the works that will be shown are drawings of the ancient olive trees in Renoir's garden in Cagnes, the Zen Gardens of Kyoto, the Fjords and mountains of Norway, the Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming, the coast of Maine, and ink paintings of the Chinese mountains. Mr. George has recently returned from his second trip to the People's Republic of China. His work will be shown at the National Collection of Fine Art in Washington in February.

Co-sponsored by Cranbury Landmarks and Flatroc, Inc. the sessions will be held in the art room of the Old Cranbury School, 23 North Main Street, Cranbury. A model will be available at each session.

Individuals may sign up for all 12 weeks at a cost of $42 or may drop-in on an eveining to evening basis at $4.50 per night. A minimum of 15 participants must sign up for all 12 sessions before the sessions can begin.

SERIES TO CONTINUE

At Adult School. "Art, Nature and Abstraction" is the title of artist Thomas George's talk at the Princeton Adult School 8 p.m. Thursday evening, December 2, in the Princeton High School library. His illustrated slide lecture is part of the "Many Faces of Art" series; individual admission tickets are available.

The artist will discuss the value of drawing from nature as it relates to the abstract paintings that he creates in his studio. In order to increase the viewer's understanding and appreciation of how an individual artist sees the natural world around him, Mr. George will show his drawings as well as pictures of the natural sites that inspired him. Last year he had a one-man show at the Art Museum, Princeton University, where his loose bold brush stroke drawings of mainland China proved a popular attraction.

His work is found in public collections throughout the world, including, to mention a few: the Guggenheim Museum, Museum of Modern Art, Whitney Museum of American Art, Brooklyn Museum, Tate Gallery and the New Jersey State Museum.

ALLEN TO SHOW

In Rocky Hill. A one man show of work by Peter Allen is on view at the First National Bank of Central Jersey in Rocky Hill. Oils, water colors, drawings and prints by the young artist are on display and for sale.

Born in Princeton and now a resident of Rocky Hill, Peter Allen began art studies with Rex Goreleigh and Bill Monaghan and continued as a studio art major at Drew University under Peter Chapin. He has since studied further with Mr. Goreleigh and with Hughie Lee-Smith.

His paintings won "best oil by a professional" and "best oil in show" at the third annual Washington Crossing Show, his first exhibit. He has also been selected for inclusion in the New Jersey '73 show at the State Museum, Trenton. His work has been in group shows at the Artisan and Eye for Art in Princeton.

ORIENTAL ART ON SALE

At International Center. A special exhibition and sale of original art, sponsored by the graduate foreign student committee of Princeton University, will be held Friday, December 3, from 2-9 and Saturday, December 4, from 10 to 6 at the International Center, 5 Ivy Lane.

The collection of approximately 500 pieces comes from Japan, China, India, Nepal, and Thailand. The oldest prints, dating back to the 18th century, include Chinese woodcuts, Indian miniature paintings and manuscripts and works by such artists as Hiroshige, Kuniyashi and Kumsoda. The modern pieces are woodcuts, etchings, lithographs, serigraphs and mezzotints created by such world renowned contemporaries as Soito, Azechi, Mari, Katsuda and Maki.

The price range is wide, offering something for every budget. A representative of Marson, Ltd., the exhibitor, will be present to answer questions about the art, the artists and the various techniques employed. Prints will be shown in open portfolios in an informal atmosphere and visitors are invited to have coffee as they browse. Wine and cheese will be served Friday at 7.

A LOOK INTO SPACE

At State Planetarium. Methods being used by astronomers in their attempts to discover signs of life in the Solar System and the Milky Way Galaxy provide the subject matter for a new weekend program in the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium in Trenton.

Titled "Lifesearch," the program will be presented at 2 and 4 each Saturday and Sunday (except Christmas New Year's Day) through January 2.

Through examination of the Viking missions to Mars, the Mariner probes of Venus and Mercury and the Pioneer trip to Jupiter, "Lifesearch" will focus on the conclusions being reached as to the possibility of other life in the Solar System. It will also explain and discuss electronic attempts to contact intelligent beings further in space.

At 3 on the weekends and holidays that "Lifesearch" is presented at 2 and 4, the Planetarium program will cover "New Jersey's Winter Sky"–a simulated look at the planets, constellations and other celestial sights currently visible on a clear night. This program is particularly suitable for first-time Planetarium visitors and youngsters in the 7 to 12 age group.

Free tickets for all Planetarium shows are distributed in the lobby first come, first served beginning 30 minutes before starting time. Children under 7 are not admitted, and no advance reservations are accepted.

The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, is open free from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 weekends and most holidays. It will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and New Year's.

PUPIL RECORDS OPEN

At Franklin Township Schools. Parents, as well as students 18 and over, have the right to review their pupil records, according to Dr. Ronald A. Whyte, Superintendent of the Franklin Township Public Schools. As a reminder, Dr. Whyte has included a letter with each first period report card. The superintendent explains that parents are entitled to view the cumulative pupil records, attendance records, health records and confidential records applying to classified students.

"To view these records," explains the superintendent," you should contact the building principal, fill out a request form and schedule a time to meet with the principal. The principal or person whom he assigns must be present when you review the records." Those who do not speak English well may request an interpretor.

Further details on procedures and policies are available through the principals of all Franklin Township public schools.

Correction

Police Chief Frederick Porterhas made two corrections to a story he released to TOWN TOPICS last week which reported the malicious damage to a Mansgrove Road home by a man allegedly under the influence of a narcotic.

Chief Porter said the suspect did not knock, but entered the home through a kitchen door; he is not free on $1,000 bail, but has been committed to the Carrier Clinic in Belle Mead in lieu of bail, which has been raised to $5,000.

News Of The CHURCHES

SERVICES SCHEDULED

For Thanksgiving. A number of area churches have planned special Thanksgiving services this week. The Community Thanksgiving Service, sponsored by the Inter-faith Council of representatives from all the faiths, will be held on Thursday at 11 in the Princeton University Chapel.

The speaker will be the Rev. Allen A. Gartner, president of the Pastors' Association and pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah. He will talk on the "Sacrifices of Thanksgiving." The offering will be shared by the chaplaincy committee of Princeton Medical Center to aid in the chaplaincy program, by World Hunger through CROP, and by the Pastors' Association relief fund.

All Saints' and Trinity Episcopal Churches will hold a joint Thanksgiving Eve Service on Wednesday at 6 at All Saints' Church, Terhune Road, Solemn Eucharist, according to the Rite of 1662, will be celebrated by the Rev. Roger W. Cramer of Trinity Church. A Family Eucharist service will be held Thanksgiving morning at All Saints' at 10.

The First Church of Christ, Scientist, 16 Bayard Lane, will hold a Thanksgiving Day Service at 11, which will include Scriptural readings and testimonials. The Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States will be read, and First Reader, Anthony W.R. Coomber, and Second Reader Mrs. Jeanne M. Miller will conduct the worship service.

"Thank you, God."

Take a minute, right now, to think of the good you have to be grateful for. Not things, but ideas and qualities that you express and enjoy in others.

Feeling gratitude for good, and living it every moment, is essential — because a grateful heart recognizes God's goodness and is ready to receive more.

In our church this week, people share their gratitude by telling of healings and other proofs they've had of God's care. Won't you bring your family? We'd love to welcome you

Dr. Ramsey is the Harrington Spear Paine Professor of Religion at Princeton University, where he has been a faculty member since 1944. A noted teacher-scholar in the field of Christian ethics and social theory, he has recently specialized in legal and medical ethics.

Dr. Ramsey is also the author of eight volumes and numerous articles on war, civil disobedience and medical ethics. THEOLOGY IS TOPIC

Of Course at Jewish Center. Rabbi Leon Klenicki, director of the department of Jewish-Catholic Relations of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, will lead a course on major themes of Jewish theology -- God, People, Torah, and Land, – both in historical perspective and in connection with the contemporary search for new meanings. The first of seven monthly meetings will be held Tuesday evening at 9 in the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street.

This first discussion, entitled "What Is Jewish Theology?" will focus on the possibilities and meaning of Jewish theological thought and will introduce the themes. Readings for the course may be found in "Understanding Jewish Theology," published by the Anti-Defamation League, plus a group of reprints from journals, available now for $5 at the Jewish Center, along with the optional reading assignment for the first meeting.

Rabbi Klenicki, a native of Argentina now living at 13 Stonicker Drive, Lawrenceville, earned his B.A. in philosophy at the University of Cincinnati and a master of arts in Hebrew Letters from Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion in 1967. He has since undertaken many significant responsibilities in religious and interfaith activities and in theological publication, first in Argentina and since 1973 in this country.

THIS MAN'S CASTLE

may be your future home. May, that is, if you like spacious rooms for gracious entertaining, need 7/8 bedrooms for a large family or many guests, think a library important, love lots of fireplaces, and find swimming and tennis on your own small estate a way of life. Set back on beautifully landscaped grounds, overlooking pastoral fields, and of course, in Princeton Borough's prime western section - this is a Jewel of a listing!

REASONABLE OFFERS WILL BE CONSIDEREO

BUILT FOR TWO

or maybe three - this rambling ranch has a contemporary air! Through a judicious and interesting blend of wood, glass and brick, with handsome two level redwood deck spanning the rear of the house and joining the living and bedroom wings, it brings the outdoors in - and the indoors out.
Informal living room with fireplace, separate and sunny dining room, large wood panelled "country" kitchen, two bedrooms and two handsomely tiled baths. Huge two car heated garage (could become another room, central air conditioning - and the pool!
All set on an acre and a half in a pretty, quiet and rural location, with brook running through the grounds $72,500

OUR OFFICE IS NEITHER TOO BIG
to concentrate on each and every seller and buyer
NOR TOO SMALL to provide efficient, experienced area-wide coverage!

A LIVING DOLL HOUSE

Chock full of appeal, shiny clean, and neat as a pin from top to bottom, this 3 - or possibly 4 - bedroom Cape Cod has just about everything a family of 3 or 4 - or possibly 5 - could want! Living room with beamed ceiling and fireplace, kitchen, adjoining breakfast room with wet bar, 3 bedrooms (one on first floor), den or 4th bedroom, 2 baths, enclosed porch -- all are delightful; but the highlight has to be the surprisingly spacious dining room opening on a greenhouse!
There's a good basement too, with workshop space, laundry tub, and possible play area. All on a lovely, low-care acre complete with brook and birdcover, and backed by old woods. This LIGHT listing is really a bright one! $79,500

Treat yourself to sheer luxury!

Imagine breakfasting in a lush, year round subtropical garden ... right in your own home. We've seen many a house with inside planters, but never one actually built around a garden. The cathedral ceilinged living room, dining room, kitchen and entry all open directly to this central skylighted garden.

Also on this level is a master bedroom with super dressing room and bath.

Curving steps go down between rocks and foliage to the children's level with three more bedrooms and bath and a TV room which also opens to the garden.

This sleek, contemporary house is now under construction on a 4.5 acre lot with trees and a lovely view.

Wonder what the outside looks like? Call us. $125,000

In The News

Three area residents have enrolled at Northfield Mount Hermon School in East Northfield, Mass. They are Nathaniel N. Hartshorne Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel H. Hartshorne of Blawenburg-Rocky Hill Road, Blawenburg, and F. Rodney Paine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Paine of Province Line Road and New York City, both seniors, and Peter S. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Perry Morgan Jr. of Constitution Hill, a junior.

J. Thomas Davidson, M.D., of Cherry Hill Road, general and vascular surgeon with Princeton Surgical Associates, P.A., became a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons at an induction ceremony in Chicago recently at the Annual Clinical Congress sponsored by the College.

Following graduation from Cornell University Medical School, Dr. Davidson served his Surgical Residency at New York University - Bellevue Hospital Center and, prior to entering practice in Princeton, spent a year's fellowship in peripheral vascular surgery at that institution.

Marshall N. Rosenbluth of 284 Mercer Road, a professor at the Institute for Advanced Study, has been named the recipient of the 1976 James Clerk Maxwell Prize in plazma physics. The presentation was made at a meeting of the American Physical Society Division of Plasma Physics in San Francisco recently.

The Maxwell Prize was established in 1975 to honor contributions to the knowledge of properties of highly ionized gases of natural and laboratory origin. Dr. Rosenbluth was cited for his analyses of the behavior of plasma in its various manifestations and his contributions to plasma theory in the areas of stability, transport processes, interaction of radiation with plasma, fluctuations and wave phenomena.

Having earned his doctorate at the University of Chicago in 1949, Dr. Rosenbluth taught for a year at Stanford University before joining the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory and in 1956 the General Atomic Laboratories. He taught at the University of California at San Diego before accepting his current position at the Institute in 1967.

He serves also on the staff of the Plasma Physics Lab and the faculty of Princeton University and is a consultant to NASA and the Maxwell Labs which sponsored the $3500 award.

"Mrs. Chiang's Szechwan Cookbook," written by Ellen Schrecker with John Schrecker, former Princeton residents, has been published by Harper & Row. Billed as the first authentic Szechwan cookbook, the recipes are those of Chiang Jung-Feng, a remarkable cook whom the Schreckers met and employed while studying in Taiwan in 1963. Mrs. Chiang joined the Schreckers in America, and she and Ellen Schrecker began work on this book.

Mrs. Schrecker graduated from Radcliffe College with a degree in European history. As a graduate student at Harvard, she met John Schrecker who was studying Chinese. They went to Taiwan, where she became interested in Chinese culture, especially Chinese cooking.

Both taught for a time at Princeton University, Mrs. Schrecker as the first woman to teach in the History Department. Both now live in Cambridge, Mass., where Dr. John Schrecker is associate professor of Chinese history at Brandeis University in Waltham, and his wife teaches freshman composition at Harvard.

Szechwan food is basically hearty peasant fare. Mrs. Chiang grew up in a household of demanding gourmets who raised most of their own food, butchered their pigs and made their own soy sauce and vinegar. Each of the 93 recipes in the book has been tested in an American kitchen and made from ingredients locally available, but the aim has been to preserve the true taste of each dish.

Airman Kim H. Matte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Matte of 3 Irwin Place, Lawrenceville, has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training. A 1973 graduate of Notre Dame High School who attended Rider College, she will now receive specialized training in the administrative field.

Eric Foner, a visiting associate professor in the Princeton University history department, wrote the narrative that will be spoken by actress Ruby Dee before and after each episode in a six-part television series, "The Fight Against Slavery," which will debut Monday at 9 p.m. on WNET-Channel 13. The series was made by the British Broadcasting Corporation and focuses on the battle to abolish slavery and the slave trade in the British Empire. It will be

FROM ANDREW UNDERSHAFT, LTD: A key prop in "Major Barbare" is this ferocious cannon. But its bark is fake and it hasn't any bite at all. In the background, are members of McCarter Associates on a backstage tour of the theatre.

Backstage Tour of McCarter Theatre Takes Visitors to Delightful Make-Believe World

An invitation to go backstage, to peek into the magician's hat, was eagerly accepted last Thursday morning by about a dozen members of McCarter Associates, the auxiliary organization that helps support the theatre, financially and psychologically.

The Associates hold a tour of the theatre at least once for each show in the drama repertory. "Major Barbara" had two, and this was the second.

In the empty, undressed theatre, members of the tour chatted for a time with Mark Krause, production director, and Mitchell Kurtz, technical director, asking questions, making pointed criticism ("this theatre needs paint!") and learning enough to file through the narrow backstage door with at least some of their lines learned.

"There are better stages than McCarter and, God knows, worse," Mr. Krause told the group. "The theatre is good, and nothing makes working here impossible, but...."

The lighting equipment is antiquated, there is no sound system at all, the stage floor will have to be replaced before long, movies seen from the balcony are--well, "mediocre."

A Different World. Backstage, all is magic and a delightful game of let's pretend. Through the narrow door that leads from the auditorium, tour members enter the backstage world where technology, applied physics and chemistry combine with art and architecture to create illusion.

"This cannon," begins Mr. Kurtz.....

It's the fearsome cannon from the last act of "Major Barbara," symbol of Andrew Undershaft's munitions empire. Like a Trojan horse, it comes onstage, huge and thunderous. Well, the thunder comes from a pair of recordings: one, a tape of the San Francisco trolley, played backwards at half-speed; the other, a recording of a rachet against sheet metal, also played at half-speed. So much for the sound of terror.

News Of The THEATRES

A Fine Phony. The cannon is wood, of course, and it has only one side--the side you see from the audience. Its blue, black and silver paint has been so adroitly applied that you have to touch the surface to make sure it isn't really metal.

Authentic? Not at all. Authentic cannon didn't look lethal enough, Mr. Kurtz explains. This one is basically German from the Krupp of the '30s.

The backdrop--the windows and rooftops of London--has been painted on netting used to prevent erosion on the dirt shoulders of highways. Up close, it's an impressionistic splotch, and Mr. Kurtz points out that, when the audience is a minimum of 50 feet away, detail isn't important.

The worn bricks of the Salvation Army shelter are fireproof styrofoam antiqued with acetone, and the high-explosives shed, which descends from high above the stage on the theatre's rigging system, is stabilized by two iron pipes that fit neatly into holes in the set.

McCarter rents much of its furniture, although, with three weeks at McCarter plus three weeks at the Anneoberg Theatre in Philadelphia, it's almost cheaper to buy. "Props people go to all the flea markets!" Mr. Kurtz grins.

A director often describes a set in terms of movement, Mr. Kurtz told the tour, and designer and technical director must do the rest. "Major Barbara"s actors rehearsed once on that multi-level last act set when it was still at the shop in the University's armory, and to everyone's relief, no major changes were required.

If you want to go on a tour, join the Associates. A $25 check, sent in care of the theatre, will make you a member. (And you get your name on the program, invitations to opening night receptions to meet the actors and directors, and maybe a chance to help get the theatre painted.

NEXT: "DON JUAN" In English Translation. Intime's production of Moliere's "Don Juan," the theatre says, will emphasize the humor and human comedy in the play, allowing the satire on conventional religion--which served to ban the play for almost two centuries--to fall into a moderate and natural perspective.

"Don Juan" will open in Theatre Intime's Murray Theatre next Thuraday, December 2. Mark Nelson, a University senior, is the director. Murray Theatre

new bar

Leon Christen welcomes one and all to come and relax in the warm, friendly atmosphere of the new bar at Lahiere's. The decor is restful and satisfying: century-old brick walls complemented by subtle shades and textures of dark wood and rattan, a touch of color in a hanging plant, or a gleam of light captured and released by a mirror. Just the right spot for sharing a story with an old friend. Or for getting acquainted with a new one.

Your sojourn in the bar can be prologue or epilogue to a gourmet luncheon or dinner at Lahiere's. Things may change, but not Lahiere's tradition of offering the finest French cuisine—from the distinguished wines, through finely seasoned appetizers, specialty salads, carefully prepared entrees and savory desserts audiences will recall that he played five parts in "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," and roles as dissimilar as Pompey in "Measure for Measure" and Joe in "Lovers." He also directed last summer for the Brighton Lights Theatre Company of Brooklyn (and Princeton).

Always the food. Now, the new bar. Yet another reason to say again, "Meet me at Lahiere's."

This version of "Don Juan" has been rendered into modern English by the British playwright Christopher Hampton. He is the author of "The Philanthropist," which was on Broadway in 1972.

Duncan Brine, a sophomore at the University, will make his Princeton acting debut as Don Juan. Betsy Fowler, a junior, will be Donna Elvira, and Anthony Santangelo, who has been in several French language productions of Moliere, will be Don Juan's foil, Sganarelle.

NUTCRACKER AGAIN

For Three Performances. For the thirteenth consecutive year, McCarter Theatre Company, and the Princeton Ballet Society will join forces to present the Princeton Ballet Company in its two-act full-length version of Tchaikovsky's Christmas ballet classic "The Nutcracker." A company of 90 dancers, including the entire Princeton Ballet Company, guest artists, and assisting dancers from the Princeton School of Ballet, will take part in the traditional Christmas production, which will have three performances at McCarter with matinees on Tuesday and Thursday, December 21 and 23, at 4:30, and a single evening performance on Wednesday, December 22, at 7.

Since its premiere in 1964, the McCarter-Princeton Ballet Society production of "The Nutcracker" has had more than 40 performances, with never an unsold seat. The complete "Nutcracker" includes the rarely-performed complete first act (including the "Kingdom of the Snowflakes" sequence) as well as the divertissements of Act II, the music for which is familiarly known as the "Nutcracker Suite."

The ballet has been choreographed by Audree Estey (Act I) and Lila Brunner (Act II, re-staged by Judith Leviton). Mrs. Estey is Artistic Director of the Princeton Ballet Company, and Ms. Leviton is its Ballet Mistress.

SOLO CONCERT BOOKED

For "Top Electric Bassist." Bassist Stanley Clarke, who at the age of 25 has already carved a place for himself in the progressive music world of jazz and rock, comes to Alexander Hall on the Princeton campus on Wednesday, December 1, at 8 as part of his first solo concert tour as a headline artist. Presented by the McCarter Theatre Company, Clarke will appear with his new band as well as jazz-pianist-composer Jan Hammer (formerly of the Mahavishnu Orchestra) and his group.

Clarke maintains a top spot in virtually every major music publication's annual critics and readers' polls as "top electric bassist." As soloist, on the basis of such albums as his recently released "School Days," Clarke maintains a parallel career as leader, composer, and arranger, playing on and co-producing his own albums.

Subsequent events in McCarter's schedule of pop concerts for the fall season include Linda Ronstadt at Dillon Gymnasium on Saturday, December 11, and singer-songwriter Phoebe Snow, at Alexander Hall on Saturday, December 4.

Although all main floor seats have already been sold, side and end stands remain for the Ronstadt concert, her only appearance in New Jersey this season. Miss Snow, a native of Teaneck, whose recording of her song "Poetry Man" catapulted her to stardom in 1975, will be fulfilling her Princeton concert commitment of last spring, postponed because of the birth of her first child.

TWO COMEDIES PLANNED

By Inn College Theatre The Princeton Inn College Theatre will open its first major production of the season on Thursday, December 2, when it presents Woody Allen's "God" and Jules Feiffer's "Feiffer's People" as a double bill. The two will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings December 2-4 and December 9-11 at 8 in the PIC Theatre on Alexander Street.

Jules Feiffer last year opened a new play on Broadway and last month completed his 20th year as cartoonist for the Village Voice. "Feiffer's People" is a series of sketches, many drawn from his Village Voice cartoons, which are described by the Inn College producers as being mercilessly and poignantly funny. Bonnie Berkowitz, Norman Cotterell, Jackie Long, James Mullins and Raoul Rosenberg are featured in these vignettes.

Woody Allen, best known for his films and essays, has transferred his talents to the stage. Harry Elish and Robert Ortega as two distraught Greeks deal with the traumas of theatre in ancient Athens, aided by the dubious talents of Doris Levine (Stephanie Miller) from Great Neck.

Tickets are $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students. Advance reservations are suggested and may be obtained by calling 452-6094 weekdays between 10 and 5.

STAGE AND FILM

Photography Exhibit Planned. "Portraits of the Catskill Mountains," a photography exhibit, will be on view at the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick, concurrently with "Brothers" now playing at the Playhouse, and scheduled to run through December 4.

The photographer is Suzanne Karp Krebs, coordinator of the Playhouse's art gallery. The portraits, taken during the past two summers, are mostly of dairy farmers in the Catskill region. Ms. Krebs' experience in photography ranges from theatre photography to seven years work as a reading teacher in Bedford-Stuyvesant, utilizing cameras as a teaching tool.

THERE THEY COME! Lynn Sheehan, Bruce Oswald, Shirley Peters, Leila Katz and Dorothy O'Leary are terrorized by approaching strangers in "Help, Help, the Globolinks" to be performed by the Princeton Opera Association Saturday, December 4 in the John Witherspoon School at 1:30 and 3:15. Tickets at door, $1.50 and $3, or phone reservations 924-3991. A benefit performance will also be presented Sunday afternoon--details below.

MUSIC In Princeton

TO SPONSOR BENEFIT

Of Menotti Work. Soroptimist International will present the Princeton Opera Association in a benefit performance of operatic arias as well as the premiere performance of Gian Carlo Menotti's "Help, Help, the Globolinks."

The Opera Association will entertain with a selection of songs and aries from successful past productions. Spooky sound effects, eerie lights and outer space creatures will provide a good afternoon's worth of entertainment for children, and those who like children, in Menotti's musical fantasy.

This performance will be held at the John Witherspoon School, Walnut Lane, on Sunday, December 5, at 1:30. Tickets are available from members of the Soroptimist Club and the Princeton Opera Association at $4.

TO OPEN SEASON

With American Works. The Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra, a youth orchestra composed of some 70 high schoolers, will open its 16th season Wednesday December 1, with a specially - selected program of all - American works. The concert will take place in the Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School and is free and open to the public.

With Dr. Matteo Giammario at the podium, the orchestra will present Gersbwin's "An American in Paris," Aaron Copland's "Outdoor Overture," and "The Fun and Faith of William Billings, American" by Robert Russell Bennett. The Copland work was written for the High School of Music and Art in New York City which wanted good contemporary music and not merely watered down arrangements for its students to play.

The final selection was commissioned by the National Symphony in Washington of which Antol Dorati is the conductor. Robert Russell Bennett an orchestrator and composer best known for his orchestration of all the Rogers and Hammerstein shows and of Richard Rogers' "Victory At Sea," researched the music of the early American composer William Billings who wrote, primerily for voice, during the Revolution.

Mr. Bennett worked the melodies he uncovered into a duet between orchestra and chorus which he called "The Fun and Faith of William Billings, American." The East Windsor - Hightstown Chorale, Mark Else director, will sing the chorus part, and in return the MCSO will give a repeat concert Saturday, December 11, at 8 at Hightstown High School.

The purpose of the Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra is to develop skilled young musicians and train them in the field of orchestral music. Sponsors of the orchestra are the Mercer County Park and Recreation Commission; the Recording Industries Music Performance Trust Fund; the Trenton Musical Association, Local 62, American Federation of Musicians; and the Lawrenceville School.

High School students from the Princeton area who are currently members of the orchestra include Katrina Jones of Stuart School; Jennie Southgate and Betsy Powell of Princeton High School; Ellen Ransky, Jocelyo Kalajian and Sue and Vicky Greco of West Windsor - Plainsboro High School; and Brett Allen, Charles and Sylvia Dolich, Debbie Hunt and Kenneth Johnston of Hopewell Valley High School, and Tres Arnett of Belle Mead.

Jazz for Free

The Princeton University Jazz Ensemble will hold a free concert Sunday December 5, at 3 in Alexander Hall. Featured will be two complete big bands playing works ranging from the swinging style of Count Basie to the driving power of Maynard Ferguson. Everyone is welcome.

The Jazz Ensemble was founded three years ago by a group of students interested in jazz and since then has grown to include almost 40 people. The ensemble currently hires two conductors, one for each band, and almost totally supports itself by playing for dances and other events. This is the first of four concerts given each year.

SMYTH HONORED

By Award In His Name. The Henry DeWolf Smyth Nuclear Statesman Award has been given to Dr. Sigvard Eklund, director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

Established in 1972 by the Atomic Industrial Forum and the American Nuclear Society, the award was named in honor of Dr. Henry DeWolf Smyth, professor emeritus of physics at Princeton University. Dr. Smyth, who was the first recipient of the award, served from 1961 to 1970 as U.S. Ambassador to the IAEA in Vienna. The Princeton resident is regarded as a pioneer in nuclear safeguards planning.

The award recognizes outstanding service in developing and guiding the uses of atomic energy in constructive channels. Dr. Eklund is the third person to receive the Nuclear Statesman Award, and the first European. Earlier recipients were Dr. Smyth in 1972 and Chet Holifield, former chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, in 1974.

Dr. Eklund received his Ph.D. in 1934 from the University of Uppsala in Sweden and went on to work with the Nobel Institute of Physics, the Research Institute for National Defense, and the Royal Institute of Technology in Stockholm. In 1950 he joined AB Atomenergie as director of research and advanced to deputy managing director. He became director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency in 1961 and is now serving his fourth term in that office.

Among his long list of achievements in the nuclear era, Dr. Smyth in the late 1960's obtained international acceptance of a safeguards system, "a vital prerequisite to negotiating the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty" of 1968. He served from 1949 to 1954 as a member of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and from 1935 to 1949 as chairman of the Department of Physics at Princeton University.

In August 1945, one week after the end of the Second World War, the United States Government published Dr. Smyth's official report on the development by the U.S. of the first atomic bomb. The "Smyth Report" became known world-wide as the introduction to the international significance of the nuclear age.

PHS Football Team Defeats Trenton, 15-14, For Its Sixth Triumph in Last Seven Games

Can one call the Princeton High School football squad a Cinderella team?

Maybe not, but the Little Tigers, who last week clinched at least a tie for the championship of the Colonial Valley Conference, certainly closed out their season with a happy ending.

PHS, which last year scored a 69-yard touchdown with 2:44 left to play to edge Trenton High, 14-13, did it again Saturday with a rousing Frank Merriwell finish. This time, the Little Tigers waited until 28 seconds were left when Todd Blackledge bulled his way over from the one-yard line.

That still left them one point behind, 14-13. PHS coach Jim Beachell, who said later that he never gave consideration to going for a tie called on his bread-and-butter runner, Tony Strong, with a Tony Strong bread-and-butter play -- an outside sweep. Tony went over standing up, holding the ball aloft in his traditional victory sign, and the Little Tigers owned a pulsating, 15-14 victory.

"I don't have a lot to say," said a spent Beachell after the game. "It was a little hairy out there. I nearly had a heart attack."

The win gave the Little Tigers a 6-3 record -- Beachell's best in his three years as head coach. Asked to comment on the season, Beachell reported that when it started he had hoped the team would finish 5-4. This is one more game than I thought we would win. He admitted that he was "extremely happy" with the way the season turned out. After losing its first two, PHS swept six of the next seven.

By most yardsticks, the final game belonged to Trenton, which suffered its seventh loss in nine games. Beachell agreed. "It could have gone either way," he said.

"I expected a close game. Trenton is far too under-rated. They have a very good ball club. I want to compliment their coach; they're a well disciplined team."

Little Tigers Outrushed. Trenton outrushed the home-team Little Tigers, 275 to 145. Just as lopsided was the play of the two lines. Trenton's dominated the game. "They were extremely quick. They have tremendous speed off the line," Beachell said.

Playing wide, the Tornado linemen, denied Strong the outside. When PHS tried to go inside, Trenton jammed up the middle, Beachell said, by shooting the gap. To open up the defense, Beachell had Blackledge running the option play and that proved to be the victors' best weapon.

To its credit, PHS was able to drive the length of the field when it had to. With 5:40 left, Barry Turner, who had two leaping interceptions earlier in the game, recovered a Trenton fumble on the PHS 15. At that point, the fired-up Tornadoes had been driving relentlessly for what would have been a two-touchdown margin.

But as Beachell commented later, PHS was in good position. "We still had enough time and we still had all our time outs left." Fullback Ray Wadsworth and Blackledge ran for first downs.

Then came a 46-yard advance, on a 31-yard pass to Ron Reimann, which carried to the 36, the play ending on the 21 when Trenton was whistled for roughing. The pass was Blackledge's only completion in the game.

Strong ran for a first down but three plays later, PHS still needed three on a fourth down to get a first-down on the one. Strong got that off tackle. On the next play, Blackledge went over.

THS Scores on 60-Yard Run. In the first period, PHS was held to one first down. After Blackledge had punted to the Tornado 28, the visitors went 72 yards in three carries, all by tailback Bradford Colvin. His third effort was a 60-yard TD romp down the sidelines. The 165-pound senior rushed for 145 yards in 12 carries and scored both Trenton TDs.

As PHS continued to sputter, the realization came that it was going to be a long game. "Get your heads together, Princeton," shouted an onlooker, "they're not going to give it to you."

In the second period, Turner's theft of a Ken Reese pass gave PHS the ball on the 49. (Reese was 0 for 3 and one interception in the first half, while Blackledge was just as ineffective with no completions in five attempts and two interceptions.)

Sparked by the interception, PHS drove 51 yards in eight plays. The chief architect was Blackledge. On straight ahead and option runs, the sophomore quarterback carried four times, moving the ball to the nine on back-to-back first down advances of 13 yards each. Strong later scored his fifth touchdown on a two-yard plunge. Reimann's pat kick tied it at seven.

The teams exchanged fumbles in a scoreless third period, but early in the final stanza, Trenton was able to capitalize when it gained control on its own 34, after partially blocking a Blackledge punt.

It needed only six plays with Colvin scoring on an eight-

HOW SWEET IT IS: Tony Strong, "Juice" to his Princeton High teammates, was thwarted most of the day by a solid Trenton High defense, but he came through when it counted, scoring on this game-winning, two-point conversion sweep with 28 seconds left.

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

One of the most unusual games in the history of football took place in 1943 when Illinois and Ohio State were tied 26-26 as the final gun went off and the players ran into the dressing rooms ... But, unnoticed by most, one official ruled Illinois was off-side on the last play of the game ... It took from then until 12 minutes later to get the teams back on the field and to get ready for play again ... Ohio State then kicked a field goal and won 29-26, 12 minutes after the game had ended – and with most of the fans gone from the stadium.

Did you know a football team can be penalized five yards if the referee discovers 2 players on the same team have the same number on their uniforms? ... It says so, right in the rule book, but that's one penalty you could go a whole lifetime without ever seeing.

Here's an oddity about the highest scoring major college football game of all-time when Georgia Tech beat Cumberland 222-0 in 1916 ... Although Georgia Tech scored 222 points that day, incredibly, they never threw a pass the entire game!

I bet you didn't know .. that many health insurance plans including Blue Cross - Blue Shield do not cover children after they reach 19 years old.

Six Teams Will Search for Quarterbacks But Ivy Football Race In 1977 is Expected to Mirror Pattern of Season Just Finished

Six of the eight Ivy football teams, having started senior quarterbacks in their final games of the 1976 season, will be engaged in somewhat frantic searches for capable replacements when practice begins late next August. However, despite the major role that a good quarterback plays in a team's success, no great change in the final standings – or even in the identity of the two colleges at the top of the ladder – is likely in 1977.

The two Ivies which will be able to start quarterbacks who began the games of November 13 are Columbia and Cornell – which, like Princeton and Penn, do not figure to crack first division next year. The Lions used junior Kevin Burns as the starter in all nine of their games; Cornell developed sophomore Mike Tanner to the point where he outplayed Penn's Bob Graustein on the final day of the season and won the league's Player of the Week nomination for his performance. Graustein was the Ivy's total offense leader for the year.

Elsewhere: the co-champions, Brown and Yale, will graduate Paul Michalko and Stone Phillips; Dartmouth loses Kevin Case, who had not won a letter until his senior year but led the Green to a third-place tie; Harvard must replace Jim Kubacki, whose emergence as a junior was the prime factor in the Crimson's title-winning year in 1975; and Graustein is finished at Penn.

Princeton started senior Jack Flannery in its final game, the first time he had been in such a role since the opener with Cornell. Flannery never impressed the coaching staff with being the catalyst the Tigers were hunting, but they benched junior Kirby Lockhart in his favor for the Dartmouth game and Lockhart therefore does not qualify as an "established quarterback." Princeton, accordingly, is in much the same boat as everyone else save Columbia and Cornell, with Yale possibly best off because it used Bob Rizzo fairly frequently in place of Phillips. Rizzo is the Elis' captain-elect.

Opening Day a Big One. Under the revised schedule which went into effect this year, the Yale-Brown game will again play a major part in determining the outcome of the race on opening day next September. This time it will be at New Haven, and this time, bet on the Elis, who lost at Providence this season, 14 to 6.

They won their next eight in a row, will benefit from a freshman team that was good enough to end the Harvard freshman streak at 5, and already have benefitted immensely from the decision of the extremely capable Carmen Cozza to continue as their coach, rather than to aerve as director of athletica. With John Pagliaro, the top running back not only in the league but the entire east, and a atrong supporting cast despite the inevitable graduation losses, the Elis are the early-line choice for 1977.

Brown Strong Again. Nothing will alter the status of Brown, Dartmouth and Harvard as prime contenders. John Anderson has installed winning football at Providence in four short years, steered his team to victories over Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth in a single season – a feat unduplicated at Brown in half a century – and has a steady flow of good material matriculating there.

Joe Restic may be in aome heat at Cambridge for failing to defend Harvard's title successfully when he had many of his key players, including an All-East quarterback, as holdovers. The Crimson's backers do not like the complexity of Reatic's multiple-set offense, claiming that it is too detailed for the limited time Ivy League players can devote to football.

Their point is made every year that Restic does not finish first, and after silence last fall, the chorus is being heard again. Nonetheless, Harvard will battle the three other New England teams for the 1977 crown, and will bring up to varsity level a freshman team that topped Brown, Dartmouth and three other foes before being upset by Yale's Class of 1980.

Dartmouth could be Yale's biggest threat in 1977, despite the need for a new quarterback. The Green returns its two fine ball carriers, Sam Coffey and Curt Oberg, and is aware that in all three of its 1976 losses – to Brown, Harvard and Yale -- its own mistakes contributed largely to the final outcome. Football is a way of life at Hanover, a way that has led the Green to more Ivy victories since the league went formal two decades ago than any of the other seven members can claim.

With the top four so firmly entrenched, it appears wholly unlikely that any of the second-division teams will be able to better their lowly status, although one of them may develop to the point where it can hold fifth place alone, rather than share in a four-way tie for wbat amounts to the cellar. It would be almost impossible to select the one which might move above its fellow sufferers – football on each of the four campuses is beset with more problems than a single season can possibly solve.

No End to the Tunnel. Columbia, perennially shorter of manpower than anyone else, has managed only two or three first-division finishes in two decades, and while the trend has been upward under Bill Campbell, the Lions are light years away from fielding the kind of balanced squad it takes to win an Ivy title. Penn made a brief run for the money in the early part of this decade but had more sub-par material at the freshman level, and upward progress appears beyond reach. The Quakers' lone consistent achievement of late has been their unprecedented ability to dominate Princeton – for five straight years.

Cornell, which fired Jack Musick two years ago, fired his successor, George Seifert, two days after the current season had ended. The Red has some good football players, but it is unlikely that a new coach can pick up the pieces of successive 1-8 and 2-7 seasons sufficiently to show marked improvement.

Princeton, too, will continue in considerable difficulty. The largely sophomore interior line should improve, particularly when injured players return, but if Flannery is counted as the starting quarterback, three-fourths of the backfield must be replaced, and the Tigers put the 1976 season into the books as their worst in point-production in 45 years.

If this is not bad enough, many of the key players who played seven solid games on defense -- before the catastrophic games against Yale and Dartmouth – will graduate. Replacements must be found for two fine tackles (Ted Schiller and Steve Fletcher); for a top defensive end (Hank Howarth); for a standout middle guard (Marc Fiorvanti); for the two ubiquitous linebackers (Steve Lang and Paul McKeon); and for a highly dependable safety (Pete Bartlett). Replacements in good degree are there -- a number of sophomores developed very rapidly – but these losses are possibly greater than any of the other Ivies will suffer on defense.

As indicated here last week, the freshman program does not appear to be developing personnel with maximum skill, and recruiting problems are greater than they are at Brown, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale. The Tigers will again set their sights on topping the .500 mark – next year for the first time in seven seasons – but the final result is not likely to be appreciably better than it was in 1976.

yard burst. Willie McIntyre then kicked his second PAT.

Beachell 3-for-3. The win gave Beachell a 3-0 mark against Trenton. "I think I've beaten just about everybody at least once," he said. Last year, Princeton's record was 5-4.

"It was a good year for the defense," Beachell continued. "I don't think people realize how good our defense has been." Last year the Little Tigers allowed an average of nine points a game, he pointed out. This year it allowed the opposition 11 points per game.

Beachell singled out the performances of Blackledge, Turner, Wadsworth and nose guard Mike Long in the Trenton win. To his coaches after the game, he said: "Well, we made it. I don't know how, but we did it."

Through graduation, Beachell loses Strong, the only starting back, and guard Jim O'Grady -- the team's co-captains. Also Scott Thompson, the starting quarterback for the first three games, who switched to wide receiver when Blackledge took over running the team; kicker Andy Longmen, defensive back Phil Billington, end Jim Leech, Tom Hagadorn, the defensive captain who had a standout year; center Bruno Perna, tackle Jean-Paul Maman, Reimann, Long and end Bill Schmiedeskamp.

Basically, however, Beschell went with underclassmen. Some of the fine players on this year's team who will form the nucleous for the 1977 squad are Dave Miller, Wadsworth, Bob Campbell, Chris McDonald, Turner, Daryl Grisham, Cory Easter, Brian Cleveland, Karim Elmiligi, Eric Suber, Turner and Chris Cahill.

And the 6-3, 210-pound Blackledge. If there was one agreement about the prospects of the Little Tigers it was this: Blackledge is going to develop into a super player before he graduates.

And so, while the outlook for their university Tiger namesakes is grim, the future for the Little Tigers is bright indeed.

OPENER SATURDAY

For Princeton In Basketball. The defending champions of the Ivy Basketball League will open their season Saturday night at 8 in Jadwin Gymnasium against a team that is not expected to provide them with particularly stiff opposition. Coach Pete Carril's young squad — Captain Bob Slaughter is the lone senior on the roster — will begin its campaign against Colgate, which is not among the many strong independent teams in the East.

Navy, which invariably plays a tenacious brand of basketball, is due in Jadwin the following Wednesday night at 8, with the Tigers virtually certain to be 2-0 when they head for their toughest early-season assignment on Saturday, December 4. That will take them to College Park to face Maryland, which is a good bet to win another 20 games or more for the sixth year in a row. (The complete season's schedule is in the center pages of this section.)

Slaughter, who came on particularly well toward the end of last season after sitting out the previous year, will be joined on the front line by junior Frank Sowinski and sophomore Bob Roma. Sowinski has a fine outside shot and a year of Carril's instruction on defense under his belt, and is set for another great season if the ankle that bothers him on occasion remains strong.

Roma will be tested by some of the best centers in the game, particularly when he plays against Maryland, Rutgers, Notre Dame and St. John's. He came here with a top reputation as a schoolboy and the extent of his development at the varsity level will determine much of Princeton's success this winter. Despite their ability to win the NIT and Ivy League in 1975 and '76, Princeton's last two teams were not adept in rebounding, and hopes are that Roma's 6-8 frame and Slaughter's agility will result in improvement in this department.

Three-Year Regulars Gone. Gone from the backcourt for the first time in three years are Armond Hill and Mickey Steuerer, a combination that cannot be replaced in full. Juniors Bill Omeltchenko, who gained much experience in a reserve capacity last year, and Doug Snyder will be the Tigers' starting guards this winter.

Snyder, little used last season, has a good eye for the basket — in fact, it is probable that this year'a combine will score more than the team which won all 14 of its Ivy games a year ago. The question is defensive skill, which the graduated Barnes Hauptfuhrer, Hill and Steuerer had so thoroughly that Princeton led the nation in this respect with a 52.8 average.

Overall, the Tigers lack experience, a problem that will be accentuated by the seven players with whom Carril will round out hia varsity squad. As of now, there is no supersub of the mold which produced Reggie Bird or Pete Molloy or Omeltchenko — the latter often replacing the alling Mickey Steuerer last aeason early in the game.

This is particularly true at center, where Roma will be replaced by Ernie Murphy or Tom Young if he needs a rest or runs into foul trouble. Both Murphy and Young have height but are totally new to varsity baskethall at Princeton.

3-Team Race Possible. As has been the case each year in the current decade, Princeton and Penn are the front-runners among the Ivies. A few good holdovers bolstered by an unusually strong freshman team should make a possible contender of Columbia.

Harvard and Brown can be pesky, Yale appears better than its sub-par teams of the past, but Cornell and Dartmouth have little going for them.

An exhibition game Friday night against the touring Peru National quintet proved no contest. The visitors are getting the experience they seek by playing almost nightly and had won only twice in 16 outings before Princeton trounced them, 95 to 58.

Sowinski, Snyder and Young, the latter in relief of Roma, all got 12 points to pace the Orange and Black with intercollegiate rules waived, Carril dressed 14 players and used them all.

ROAD RALLYE SET

For Next Saturday. "Mercer Meanderings", a road rallye, sponsored by the Greater Princeton Jaycees, will be held next Saturday, December 4, aa a fund-raiser to benefit the Jaycees and the Mercer County Chapter of the American Heart Association.

Registration will begin at 9:30 at the Stony Brook Country club and the first car out will be at 10:30. The rallye will be run on two separate courses, one for novice and one for expert drivers.

The courses have been designed to wander along 60 miles of Mercer County's most scenic and interesting roads. Drivers will receive full course instructions and a list of landmark questiona to be answered as the course is run.

No experience is necessary; drivers need only a working odometer and a pencil. Trophies will be awarded to the first, second and third place drivers and navigators in each class. Official dash plaques will be given to all entrants.

Because entry will be limited to 200 cars, pre-registration is advised. Registration forms are available at: New Jersey National Bank of Princeton, First National Bank of Princeton, Princeton Bank and Trust, Thorne's Pharmacy Varsity Sport Shop, Earth Shoes and Princeton University Store or the Princeton Jaycees, 199 Nassau Street.

For further information, call: Pat Kidd, 921-3092.

PROMOTING MERCER MEANDERINGS: Edward A. Salkind (left), president of the Princeton Jaycees, meets with Dr. Paul R. Chesebro (center), director of the American Heart Association, Mercer County Chapter, and Marty Bloomenthal, rallyemaster, to plan the gimmick Road Rallye Saturday, December 4, to benefit the heart association.

WW ENDS SEASON

With Loss to Htghtstown. "For a 2-7 aeason it was frustrating, but it wasn't depressing. We still had a lot of enthusiasm, we were doing things better this year than we had before."

For coach Rex Walker who had just guided his West Windsor football team through its third varsity season, ending Saturday with a 25-17 loss to Hightstown, the future holds promises for better records. He began this season with five offensive and defensive veterans. Next fall, he will welcome back eight starting offensive players and six on defense.

In addition, the Pirates will benefit from a fine freshman team which finished second in its Colonial Valley Conference division with a 6-1-1 record, when it tied undefeated Hightstown 6-6 in its final game.

For the Pirates, the Hightstown loss was a familiar scenerio: early mistakes proved to be too much for a late WW rush to overcome. WW didn't field the opening kickoff properly, failed to move the ball and had to kick. Hightstown took advantage of the short Pirate punt to the 38.

Jeff Catelli soon scored on a seven-yard run and the Rams (6-3) were up by six. After the teams exchanged field goals, a 22-yarder by Brian Spearman of the Rams and a 25-yard by Mark Birnbaum of the Pirates (the only field goal tried by WW all season) the Rams upped their margin 17-3 just before the half ended when Spearman snared a 35-yard scoring pass from Quarterback Al Hausherr.

The Pirates scored twice in the final period, their most productive period of the season. Chris Holcombe, who finished as the Pirates high scorer with 30 points, scored on a one-yard run and a 15-yard effort with a lateral after a 65-yard interception by teammate Rich Masten.

Fullback Ron Dilatush was second in scoring for the season with 24 points, while quarterback Dave Watson had 22.

Seniors graduating are Dave Bornheimer, Jack Budd, Elmer Duncan, Jim Emerson, Dave Goldstein, Holcombe, Masten, Scott Peet, Gordon Simonson, Dave Stager and Dave Watson. The latter and Holcombe were co-captains.

NASSAU-CONOVER WINS

Takes Midget Football Champtonshlp. No team has been able to stop Steve Budd, the Princeton Midget League's leading rusher and Rug Mart found, to its dismay, its name added to the list.

Budd rushed for 166 yards in 19 carries, including touchdown runs of 85 and 2 yards to lead Nassau-Conover to a 26-13 victory Sunday over Rug Mart at the Princeton High School field and the Midget League Foothall title. Budd also was on the receiving end of a 25-yard pass from Dave Dinella, the league's leading passer, to score the game's first six-pointer in the first period.

After Budd's two-yard plunge had capped a 35-yard N-C drive in the second period--set up when the victors recovered an attempted punt--Nassau upped its margin to 20-0 in the third stanza when Dave Reimaon fetl on a fumbled Rug Mart punt in the end zone.

Eric Broadway got Rug Mart moving in the final period when he intercepted Dinella--it was his fifth theft and he leads the league in that department--on the 40. Bob Dennehy and Broadway alternated carrying the ball, Dennehy crashing over from the one. The TD was the first this season scored from scrimmage against Nassau-Conover.

On the second play following the return kickoff, Budd broke free for 85 yards and his 11th score of the season. Rug Mart's Broadway ended the scoring with a 50-yard romp up the middle.

Frank Wittaker led the N-C defense, aided by Tim Martin, Dave Lewis, Tony Cedaoo and Peter Borg. The Rug Mart defense was led by Mike Kennedy, Dan Turgeon, Scott Roney, Kim Wells and Paul Sigmund.

Nassau Conover ended with a 6-1 record; Rug Mart was 5-2.

U-Store Third. In a playoff game for third place the same day, U-Store (2-4) blanked Fuel Oil (1-5), 13-0.

During a scoreless first half, Fuel Oil was inside the U-Store five on two occassions but the latter's defense led by Dave Yim, Jeff Seiler, Don Casciola, Scott Crater, Dan Miller and Paul Keaney managed to stop both drives.

In the third period, Jerome Rex intercepted a Tony Florence pass aod returned it to the Fuel Oil 25. Quarterback Dan Miller and Bryan Varvel carried to the five from where Miller went over on a sneak. In the final period, Varvel put the game on ice for U-Store when he faked a punt and run 45 yards down the sidelines to the end zone.

The losers' offense was led by Florence, Billy Snead and Chris Marrow; its defense by Tommy Murray, Paul Gellar, John Kendall, Doug Warren, John Denny and Will Reed.

TOP TEAMS TO PLAY

In Paddle Teonis Exhibition. Two of the top platform tennis teams in the country will play an exhibition match Sunday at 2 at the Community Park Courts.

Tickets are $1 per person. Those under 15 will be admitted free.

On one team is Herb Fitzgibbon and Hank Irvine. A former top singles player for Princeton University, Fitzgibbon later represented the United States in Davis Cup competition. Irvine has played in mixed doubles competition at Wimbledon and played for Rhodesia in the Davis Cup. He is the platform tennis pro at Short Hills Country Club. The two recently won the Pro-Ked championship in platform tennis.

Their opponents will be Chip and Steve Baird, the current national platform tennis champions. Both brothers excelled in tennis at their respective colleges of Harvard and Bucknell. Each was a national junior national champion before joining the professional circuit.

PLAYOFFS UNDER WAY

In Princeton Soccer Leagues. Four leagues in the Princeton Soccer Club have begun playoff, following the conclusion of the regular season.

In the Cub League, three teams finished tied for first place with 3-t-1- records. They are Allen's, LaVake's and Princeton Pizza Palace. In the Junior League, U-Store and Hinkson's finished even with 4-1 marks while Center Sport was a game behind at 3-2.

In the Senior League, Laidlaw-Coggeshall was undefeated in all six of its games; Hulit's was 2-3-1, Varsity Sport Shop 2-4-0 and Nassau Hobby, 1-4-1.

Recent scores in the Youth League, where a champion has yet to be decided, had Peterson's Guides edging Callaway, 3-2; NJNB defeating Earth Shoe, 3-1; and Pietrinferno's blanking Princeton Printing and Lahiere's, Gallup Poll, both by 1-0 scores.

TULLY IS INSTRUCTOR

At Hamilton Tennis Club. Shawn Tully, a well-known Princeton tennis player and instructor, has joined the staff of the Hamilton Tennis Club on Youngs Road. He will be available daily at the eight-court indoor facility for private and group lessons.

A graduate of The Hun School and a 1970 graduate of Princeton University, Tully played on the varsity tennis team for both. He has taught for the Princeton Community Tennis Program during the past three years and while an undergraduate, he taught for five summers at the Portage Country Club in Akron as head professional.

Last winter, Tully went on a tennis teaching tour of West Africa, sponsored by the State Department and U.S. Tennis Association. Tully has a master's degree at the University of Louvain and Belgium where he helped the tennis team to the Belgium College championship. He also holds a master's of business administration from the University of Chicago.

Tiger Hockey Team Edges Yale as Overtime Goal Climaxes Rally

It's a long way from Princeton, New Jersey, to Rockglen, Saskatchewan, but maybe by now word has reached there that 17-year old Cliff Lawrick, a native son, beat Yale for Princeton in hockey in his first game as a freshman at Old Nassau.

There isn't very much of Lawrick (5-8, 150), but he outlasted a lot of skaters Saturday night in Baker Rink as the ninth minute of sudden-death overtime was drawing to a close. This was particularly true of the tired Elis, who were in their second tight contest in as many days on the road.

ONE LINE, THREE GOALS: John Van Siclen, Frank Techar and Barry Wihak skate on the line that gave Princeton three of its four goals in Saturday's victory over Yale.

The extra energy that Lawrick summoned sent him around the Yale defense and in on goalie Rich Kozlak virtually uncontested. A short flip shot over Kozlak's sprawled form as the net-minder dove to meet the challenge hit the center of the cage with just 61 seconds left in the extra session.

Until then, the visitors, who had won their first Ivy game in two seasons from Penn the night before, 3 to 2, had had matters very much their own way. Off to a 2-0 lead by the time the second period was drawing to a close, they led 2-1 with 16 minutes left, were tied, 2-all, midway in the final regulation round, but then took a seemingly victorious margin on a power play with less than three minutes to go.

Late Goal Ties Score. The Tigers managed to draw even, however, with 1:57 left on a shot that Barry Wihak converted into their third goal to climax a five-man assault on the Yale net. Earlier Princeton scores had been credited to John Van Siclen and Frank Techar, members of the same line with Wihak.

Mike O'Leary gave a fine performance in the Princeton goal, kicking out 39 shots, a number of them skate saves when the protection afforded him wasn't top-drawer. The victors' playmaking left a good deal to be desired, but they worked constantly for everything they got, and deserved the come-from-behind triumph that was their third straight over the Blue.

Princeton found out what it was like to play its second game 24 hours later on Sunday, when it was flat against a strong Providence team, losing 4-0. The Friars handled the identical assignment with ease, however, skating to their second shutout after having blanked Penn Saturday at Philadelphia, 7-0.

The visitors took a 2-0 lead in the first period, scoring as early as 2:45, and matched this pair with two more in the final round. They put 34 shots on goal, the Tigers managing 25.

St. Nicks Beaten. Unable to dominate the St. Nicholas Hockey Club until the losers ran out of gas in the third period, Princeton won an exhibition game from the Nicks last Wednesday, 10 to 5. Six goals in the final period broke the game open, with Robin Rollefstad, last year's MVP for the Tigers, taking the beating in the nets. He is still a senior here, but has no more eligibility for intercollegiate play. In addition to Rollefstad, former Princetonians returning to Baker Rink were John Cook '63 and Larry Sanford '72, both residents of this area.

No Princeton player managed the hat trick during the scoring spree. Top man was Trevor Kilburn with four points, two of them goals.

The Tigers are involved in a pair of road games next, a particularly tough one at Hanover Saturday and another with Colgate on December 1. Dartmouth has added a number of good freshmen to the team that placed third in the Ivy standings last winter and is considered the chief threat to defending champion Brown. The Green lost its opener last week to a strong Clarkson sextet, 7 to 5.

Princeton's next home game will be played Saturday, December 4, against Vermont. The contest will start at 3, rather than at 7:30 as previously announced.

Sunday at the Berkeley Heights Recreation Center pool.

In the 13-14 age group, Val Van Horn won by a length of the pool in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 2:11.0. Eric Breisacher also won a gold medal in the 200-yard free, (boys 11-12) with a clocking of 2:15.1. Paula Wszolek (10-u) earned a first place in the 50-yard backstroke.

Earning bronze medals in the 13-14 age group were Ginny McLean, 200 individual medely and Lauren Wasser, 100 breaststroke. In the girls u, Jean Farina earned a silver medal in the 100-yard freestyle which placed her in the "A" category in this event. Mike Steinberg and Brent Matheson placed third in the 100-yard breaststroke and 100 freestyle.

BANQUET tS HELD

By PDS Soccer Team. After two months of hard work, the Princeton Day soccer team finally got to relax completely last week at its annual awards banquet, and feast on the delicious memories of a championship season.

The only disappointment in a season that ended 11-2-2 plus two victories for the State Class B championship, the first in three years, was a 3-1 loss to Lawrenceville. PDS has never beaten Lawrenceville, but then there might as well be some worlds left to conquer.

Striker Mike Walters, who set single season and career scoring records at the school, and senior center halfback Tony Knott shared the most valuable player award. Right halfback Skip Guerin, a senior, was named the most improved player.

Walters, along with two other juniors, Johnny Rodgers, goalie, and Andy Sanford, fullback, will captain the Blue and White next fall. Four players, Walters, Knott, John Hickling and Dave Mali were named to the prep all-county team. Walters and Knott were named the number one forward and number one back, respectively.

Coach Tom DeVito was not forgotten, either. The players presented him with a watch with the inscription, "PDS 1976 State Champs" on the back.

WtNNERS LtSTED

In West Windsor Tennis. Jerry Cohen, Ray Giudice and Tom O'Kane became champions of the West Windsor Recreation Commissions late evening fall tennis doubles league as they finished the season with 14 points. There was a tie for the title in the early evening men's doubles league between the teams of Bob Nielsen, Pat Summers and Stan Tantum and the team composed of Don Luecke, Bernt Midland and Frank Wendt, each team earning 13 points.

In the second place in the late league were the threesome of Don Birtwistle, Bill Christensen and Rich Skalinski, who finished with 10 points. Right behind in third place with nine was the team of Jim Ruch, Daryll Wartluft and Jim Wentzel. In fourth place in the ten-team league was the combination of Bob Churilla, Harry Wyckoff and Janis Ziedonis with eight.

The early evening league's third place finishers were Tom Boyer, John DiPolvere and Jay Sexton, who compiled 10 points. In fourth place with eight were Lew Coleman, Jerry Wang and Tony Zuccarello.

In the playoffs, the first-place team will play the fourth place team, the second and third place teams oppose each other and the two winners meet for the playoff titles. These two winners then face each other for the township championship.

Schoolboy Hockey Set

The 29th annual Lawrenceville School Hockey Tournament will take place Thursday and Friday, December 16 and 17. Games will be staged in Baker Rink and in Lavino Rink on the Lawrenceville campus.

Defending champion Choate, which won the tournament last year for the first time, heads the field, which includes one Canadian entry, Upper Canada College. The six other teams are Belmont Hill, Browne and Nichols, Nichols, Taft, Trinity - Pawling and the host school. Browne and Nichols is competing for the first time.

Nicholas F. Gusz, director of athletics at Lawrenceville, is chairman of the committee in charge, with Donald R. Young serving as treasurer. Other members are Charles R. Erdman, Jr., who organized the tournament in 1949; John F. Bernard, Harry S. Fraker, Mrs. Bruce McClellan, Bill Quackenbush, Christopher Rodgers, Laurence H. Tiihonen, Fred Wandelt and Charles F. Weeden II.
